Taft Proposal for Limit to Extended Service Defeated

Senate Rejects Ohio Senator's 6-Months Extra Limitation

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The senate rejected today a proposal to limit the service period of army selectees to a maximum of six months beyond the originally set one-year term.

Rejection was on a vote announced as 50 to 27.

The proposal was offered by Senator Taft (D-Ohio) as a substitute for pending administration legislation which would permit draftees to be held in service for a maximum of one and a half years after completing the one-year training period.

When they were inducted last year, selectees and National Guardsmen were scheduled to serve only one year. The army high command recently urged indefinite extension of that period.

Taft's proposal, which gave a clear test of opposition strength for modification of the pending administration plan, would have permitted the army to retain National Guardsmen and reservists for not more than one extra year. Regularly enlisted men could not have been retained beyond the termination of their enlistments.

Taft's plan also would have authorized a regular standing army of 800,000 men. He said these, plus selectees, National Guardsmen and reservists, would provide for a total force of 2,000,000.

Thinks "Show Is Over"

Democratic Leader Barkley obtained an agreement late yesterday to vote on the Taft substitute at 12 noon (CST). Barkley and Senator Hill (D-Ala) both had predicted the proposal would receive less than 30 of the senate's present 95 votes.

With debate entering its fifth day, Hill expressed the view that "the show will be over" after the test vote on the Taft amendment.

Measure a Compromise

Under the administration's bill, the chief executive could keep all selectees, reservists, National Guardsmen and regular enlisted men for an additional 18 months, unless congress meanwhile cancelled the authorization. The measure represents a compromise for an earlier proposal asking an indefinite extension of the training periods.

The administration gained support today from the Republican side when Senator Barbour of New Jersey announced he would support the 18-month extension.

"It just does not make sense," he declared in a statement, "to build up an army with all this effort and cost and then start tearing down the structure, especially in view

Illinois Crops Suffer in Heat, Lack of Rainfall

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Increasing damage to Illinois crops due to excessive heat and lack of rain were reported today by the Federal and state departments of agriculture.

"A widespread drought situation is developing in the southwestern counties of the state where many farmers now are hauling water for their stock and several towns are threatened with a shortage of water", said the report.

"Pastures have suffered most from the heat to date. With the exception of some of the more favored rainfall areas upstate, a good general rain is badly needed to check the increasing tendency toward uneven and declining crop conditions, also to improve pastures, sizing of fruits, and soil conditions for plowing."

Corn Shows Effects

A. J. Surratt, senior agricultural statistician, said the drought conditions had not yet seriously damaged corn and soybeans except in the southwest, but that both crops "are beginning to show the adverse effects of the heat," elsewhere in the state.

In the main corn and soybean producing sections of central and northern Illinois, Surratt said, "the present optimistic prospects will be reduced considerably if there is not a change to rain and cooler weather shortly."

Most of the corn in northern Illinois is in the critical pollination stage, while the bulk of the crop in the central section is filling. Except in the extreme north, development of corn continues from ten days to two weeks ahead of normal.

Soybeans were reported still "very good" in the main producing sections, although rain is needed to support the heavy growth.

Cooperation

Detroit, Aug. 5—(AP)—Toolmakers in two plants crippled by thefts of precision instruments went ahead on full defense production schedules today thanks to quick help from rival companies and private citizens.

Word of the thieves' work got around rapidly, and help came fast—from as far distant as Minneapolis.

Heavily engaged on defense work, the Majestic Tool & Manufacturing Corporation and the Central Machine Company were invaded early Sunday by thieves who stole several thousand dollars worth of micrometers, gauges and other instruments.

A halt to production appeared inevitable. Then the help started coming in to grateful managements.

"Within a short time", said John W. Parker, president of the Majestic Company, "we had enough instruments to continue our work on a full-time basis. Without them we would have been forced to shut down indefinitely".

Strong Increase in Living Costs Predicted Today

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Leon Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration, told congress today that the nation faced the "strongest and most pronounced increase in the cost of living," even if the administration's price-control bill became law immediately.

Testifying before the house banking committee as the first witness on the measure, Henderson declared that even with the powers which the bill would confer, the government would have an "enormous load" in trying to prevent the country's "dynamic, volatile economy" from entering an inflationary stage.

Using a series of towering charts to illustrate his remarks, Henderson said the nation's price structure was "knocking at the door" of 1929 levels and heading toward the 1919 peaks."

The bill would give the president broad power to establish ceilings over prices for virtually all commodities and for rents in defense areas.

It would not permit him, however, to regulate wages or utility rates and farm prices could not be fixed below 110 per cent of parity or below the market price of July 29, 1941.

The bill stipulates that the price levels of July 29, 1941, are those to which the president should give due consideration in establishing ceilings.

G. O. P. Talks Substitute

Even before the hearings opened, Republican members of the committee talked of drafting a complete substitute for the administration's bill.

Rep. Wodcott (R-Mich) haid the substitute should contain controls over private credit, which he contended was one of the basic sources of inflation. He said it also should provide for administration of the proposed law by a quasi-judicial board.

The administration measure would give the president power to designate any individual or agency to administer it.

Henderson testified that since the outbreak of war 28 of the most important basic commodities had risen 50 per cent in price and were increasing at an even more rapid rate. This, he contended, was a complete justification of the request for regulatory legislation.

Cities Scrap Industry

Those 28 basic commodities included several metals in which price rises had not been so pronounced.

Although in the early months of the war prices in this country remained relatively steady, the price structure generally has advanced about 20 per cent, he testified.

Guardsmen's War Maneuvers Badly Hampered by Young Non-Combatants

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 5—(AP)—The first battalion of the New York Guard's First regiment, equipped with rifles, shotguns and pistols—all unloaded — marched by companies into Washington park.

The dignified khaki-clads' objective was a pavilion, theoretically held by fifth columnists armed with ammunition stolen from the army depot at nearby Schenectady.

Major Arthur H. Morris ordered the advance and soldiers squirmed over cross-cropped lawns from tree to tree.

But they were far from invisible to any enemy, however imaginary—each group of troops being accompanied by a noisy cordon of enthusiastic, uninvited youngsters who hadn't learned to fear troops or rifles.

"Watch out for those guns" and "get away from here" barked the soldiers.

"G'wan, shoot the enemy" and "who's winnin'?" retorted the noisy children.

Soldiers in front of the pavilion waved red flags and shot firecrackers—to the children's added joy—to put the invaders under fire. White flags indicated a halt in shooting.

Two city policemen sought to shoo the crowd, but the children stuck closely to the troops. After all, having accompanied them into the park, they weren't to be dissuaded so easily.

Finally, the command exercise ended as Guardsmen waded through the youngsters to surround the pavilion.

An unofficial verbal communique issued as the soldiers dispersed late last night termed the drill successful though "seriously hampered by the non-combatants."

Defense Tax Bill, Sans Joint Return Clause, to Senate

Passes House by Lopsided Vote of 369 to 30 Yesterday

Washington, Aug. 5—(AP)—The huge $3,206,200,000 defense tax bill, which would give the government its biggest cut of the national income, went to the senate today bearing a thumping house approval, but almost immediately there was talk that it might yet undergo major revisions.

It passed the house by the lopsided vote of 369 to 30 late yesterday after it had been stripped of a provision for requiring all married persons to file joint tax returns. This provision had been counted on to raise about $323,000,000 in additional revenue by compelling many married persons to pay higher surtaxes.

The defeat of the joint return clause—by a 242 to 160 vote—was attributed to a great extent to the criticism voiced by President Roosevelt who wanted it modified to exempt the income actually earned by either husbands or wives.

Members of the ways and means committee, who balked at recommending the president's proposal, were joined by other legislators in warning that further increases in individual income taxes would be necessary to make up the lost revenue.

At the other end of the Capitol, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee, expressed belief the senate would not seek to reinstate the controverted provision but would try to make up the deficiency elsewhere, possibly by revision of the income tax brackets to broaden the base. He said his committee would hear an explanation of the bill by treasury experts tomorrow and begin a two-weeks public hearing on Friday.

In Line With President

The base-broadening mentioned by George would be in line with Roosevelt's views, for the chief executive told the ways and means committee he thought the exemptions for single persons should be reduced from $800 to $750 and those for married persons from $2,000 to $1,500.

As it passed the house yesterday, the bill would virtually triple the taxes of persons in the lower and middle income groups by levying a graduated system of surtaxes starting at five per cent on the first dollar of taxable income and ranging up to 75 per cent (the present maximum) on incomes of $5,000,000 and over.

Those surtaxes would be in ad-

Welfare Advisory Committee Named

New legislation concerning relief and welfare, enacted by the recent Illinois General Assembly, was discussed at this morning's opening session of the July meeting of the Lee county board of supervisors; a county welfare advisory committee composed of County Judge Grover W. Gehant and Supervisors D. H. Spencer of Dixon and Charles C. Buckingham of Amboy being appointed by the board as required by the law providing aid for dependent children, etc.

During the morning the board appropriated the sum of $1,175 for a new room and new water pump at the county home near Eldena, and heard Mrs. Marian Church, newly-appointed county tuberculosis nurse, thank the supervisors for their courtesy and confidence in her, and asking their cooperation.

70 Per Cent

Camp Forrest Tenn., Aug. 5—(AP)—Fears that the wholesale movement of troops for the big army maneuvers starting next week would be hindered by a shortage of transportation facilities were allayed somewhat today.

Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton announced that 208 two and one-half ton trucks would be received in time for use in transporting personnel of the Illinois 33rd division to Arkansas for the war games.

The division thus will have about 70 per cent of its allotted transportation whereas officers had expected to make the journey with only 50 per cent.

Holdup of 2 Bank Messengers Nets 4 Gunmen $76,000

Stroudsburg, Pa., Aug. 5—(AP) Four gunmen held up two employes of the Stroudsburg First National Bank on a local street today and robbed them of a bag that state police said contained approximately $76.00 in old bills. The trio escaped in a black sedan.

The money was being taken from the bank to the post office, 75 yards away, for return to the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia in exchange for new currency.

As Lewis Heiny and Ralph Rheinfels, the bank messengers, hurried along the street, the gunmen drew up alongside in the sedan, jumped out, menaced the messengers with sub machine guns, grabbed the bag, and sped rapidly away.

Patrolman A. J. Barry of the Stroudsburg police said the car apparently headed through the Delaware Water Gap into New Jersey.

The holdup occurred shortly after the bank opened for the day.

Carefully Planned

Patrolman Barry said it was routine procedure for the money to be forwarded as was being done and that "it looked like the holdup had been planned for some time". He said the car license numbers were upside down.

The holdup occurred as Rheinfels, a teller, and Hainey, his bodyguard, stepped from a curb to cross to the entrance to the post office. One of the men levelled his sub-machine gun at the two and commanded:

"Stick 'em up."

The other men remained in the car, with guns trained.

The men were not masked, Rheinfels said, but all wore dark glasses. He said the one who grabbed the money, which was in 5, 10 and 20 dollar bills, was about 40 years old. All wore straw hats.

Wounded Boy Hunter Gets Self to Doctor

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Bobby Stonecipher, 16-year-old high school student, was in critical condition here today with shotgun wounds in the neck and right hand as the result of the first serious hunting accident of the squirrel-hunting season here.

After he was wounded when his gun accidentally was discharged late yesterday, Stonecipher was able to walk a half mile to his car and he arrived at a Centralia hospital without losing consciousness. Three fingers were shot off his right hand and an attending physician said X-rays showed at least 50 shots in his neck.

Carbondale Building Pipeline for Water

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—With only a month's supply of water remaining in the reservoir now being used by the city, construction was underway today on a pipeline from Carbondale to Crab Orchard lake which would assure this city an emergency supply of water adequate to meet its needs.

The pipeline is expected to be completed by the middle of August.

Only 12.13 inches of rain has fallen here this year against a normal of 25.22 inches, and the water shortage is attributed to the deficiency.

Farmer Killed by His Prize-Winning Bull

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—George Cope, 75, a Washington county farmer, was killed last night when trampled by his prize-winning bull in a pasture near his home five miles southwest of this city.

His wife, Ellen, told a coroner's jury that Cope had gone to the pasture to bring the cows to the barn but his dog brought the stock in instead. The dog acted so peculiarly she followed it to the pasture and found her husband dead, she said.

The bull had won several prizes at county fairs in this area.

Tension in Orient Grows: Warships of U. S. In Australia

"Explosion" Seems Near to Observers of Far East Situation

By The Associated Press

United States warships have arrived in Australia on a "training cruise," the navy department announced today, even as tension in the Orient heightened over the reported massing of Japanese troops at Russia's back door and the continuance of Japanese pressure on little Thailand.

Without reference to the Far East crisis, the navy said the U. S. heavy cruisers Northampton and Salt Lake City had arrived at Brisbane "for refueling and several days recreation" for ships' crews on a cruise to the South Pacific ocean.

Coincidentally, the British announced officially that large numbers of British and Indian troops, including RAF personnel, have arrived at Singapore.

Dispatches from Saigon, French Indo-China, said a large and well-equipped Chinese army was reported massed on the Burma border, ready to cross at a moment's notice to join British forces—presumably against any Japanese attack against British Burma or Malaya.

"Explosion" Seems Near

Hourly, it appeared that an "explosion" in the Far East was drawing nearer.

Reports from Bangkok, Thailand, said that officials would not deny that Japan was applying pressure for the granting of certain demands and that Thailand was facing a momentous decision in her relations with Japan, Britain and the United States.

London reports have said the Japanese were demanding air bases in Thailand, within 400 miles striking distance of Britain's great citadel of Singapore.

The Japanese newspaper Kokumin, by contrast, asserted that Thailand was "under merciless pressure" by the United States and Britain.

There were clear hints that Thailand was anxious to know more about the immediate plans of Britain and the United States, particularly the latter.

A dispatch from Manila said persons who have been in touch with British military men in key places in the Orient believed the British had made emergency plans to seize control of Bangkok and the Kra isthmus ports, moving probably from the western Burma border.

Burma Bases Stronger

The RAF has reinforced its Burma bases for flank protection against any airports which Japan may establish in Thailand; picked Australians and the cream of the India regiments have been moved by the thousands to the Thailand-Malayan border, equipped with tanks, heavy artillery and special weapons for jungle warfare.

Everywhere it was agreed that

He was one of some 200,000 Illinois soldiers voted a bonus for World war service. But his address was unknown, and he heard nothing of the bonus.

Prichason, returning from a vacation, found that Illinois State Treasurer Warren Wright, also on a vacation had delivered the check personally.

Railroad Unions' Demands for Pay Boost Rejected

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—The railroad unions' demands for wage increases were rejected today by representatives of rail management.

The carriers' representatives asserted at today's session of negotiations that railroads would be unable to pay the proposed wage increases.

Spokesmen for the managements had figured that all wage increases, if granted, would add $900,000,000 a year to operating costs.

The five operating unions, representing trainmen, engineers, firemen, conductors, and switchmen, asked for a 30 per cent increase for 350,00 unionists.

Fourteen non-operating brotherhoods, representing telegraphers, machinists, and similar employes, demanded wage increases of 30 to 34 cents an hour for about 800,000 workers.

Would Create Deficits

F. G. Gurley, chairman of the carriers' conference committee, stated that the union's demands had been rejected because they would add more than 40 per cent to the rail lines wage costs and that no industry could pay out more than it takes in.

He figured the demands would add up to approximately $900,000,000 a year.

"That is more than the railroads have ever had in net income in any one year and twice as much as all the net income that the railroads have had in the last ten years".

Gurley contended that if the pay scales asked by the unions had been in effect in 1940, the railroads would have had a net deficit of more than $600,000,000 instead of a small net income.

Union Heads to Confer

"Had they been in effect the first five months of 1941, there would have been a net deficit of $225,000,000 and such railroads as the Pennsylvania, the Union Pacific and the Santa Fe would not have earned expenses", Gurley said.

He reported that there was an upturn in the railroad business at the present time, with some resulting increase in net income, but he attributed it to changing world

Sub Surrenders to Former U. S. S. Hunt

London, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The surrender of a German submarine to H. M. S. Broadway, formerly the U. S. S. Hunt, one of the 50 United States destroyers transferred to Britain last September, was disclosed today with the announcement of decorations awarded to officers and crew.

An authoritative account of the surrender said the U-boat was detected by the Corvette Aubretia, which, with the Broadway and other warships, was escorting a merchant convoy in the Atlantic.

The Corvette released depth charges, this account said, while the Broadway and the destroyer Bulldog followed up the attack.

The submarine came to the surface and the Broadway, which was nearest, opened fire and prepared to ram it.

The crew then came tumbling out of the conning tower "with their hands held up in surrender," it was said.

Two Battles of Annihilation on Front in Russia

The War Today!

By DEWITT MACKENIZE
(Telegraph Special Service)

The Germans have intensified their fresh offensive against the red front during the past twenty-four hours, and there is small doubt that they are making their supreme effort at this crucial stage of the Russo-nazi conflict.

It's a case of now or never with the invaders, and the fierceness of this Titanic struggle makes it clear that it rapidly is boiling down to a point where it must jell soon.

Evidence of heavy Hitlerian swelling of the battle in the southern sector about Kiev. The nazis appear to be throwing special weight into this operation, which threatens Russia's communications with the Black Sea and vital oil supplies.

However, there has been no slackening in the sanguinary battle in the center of the line about Smolensk, gateway to Moscow. The invaders also claim to have made another deep thrust into the bolshevist defense north of Smolensk at Kholm.

Berlin reiterates that the objective of all the nazi operations continues to be the destruction of the Red forces rather than the immediate capture of territory. That likely gives a fair picture of the position, for while this claim certainly serves as an excellent excuse for failure to smash the Muscovite defenses, yet concentration on destruction of the Red army is a logical development and the Hitlerian strategy undoubtedly is devoted in very considerable decree to that end.

I should say that this wasn't true at the outset of the nazi invasion. Then the Germans—either overestimating their own strength or, like most everbody else, being completely fooled as to soviet preparedness—figured on rolling the defenders back without much effort and achieving another real blitzkrieg.

The amazing resistance of the Russians, however, forced Hitler to change his plan of operations. After the first onslaught it became quite apparent that it would avail him little to capture territory while the bolshevist fighting forces remained in being. Thus there has developed one of the bloodiest combats of history.

What further line of strategy the Russians intend to pursue hasn't been disclosed as yet by the sphinx of Moscow. That is to say, we don't know whther Stalin is figuring on employing all his resources in holding his present line at all costs, or whether he may intend to make strategic withdrawals.

There can be little doubt that he has large fresh reserves at his disposal unless he has just thrown them into the battle line. It wouldn't be surprising if he is holding a big force in readiness with the idea of using it at the right moment for a heavy counter-offensive after the Hitlerites have fully extended themselves in this latest phase of the conflict.

In any event, I don't think we need to pump to the conclusion that the Russo-German war is over and the bolshevists crushed even if there is a retirement of Red forces, unless an obvious rout develops. In this connection it is significant that Berlin admits the Russians in the center of the line might be able to organize other defenses in front of Moscow if the present front is broken.

As this column has pointed out before, it would be most surprising if the Muscovites haven't fully provided for all contingencies involved in withdrawals, since they have been preparing for this war for years. Their chief problem, if they do have to withdraw, will be to do so in an orderly manner.

Come what may, Herr Hitler has maybe eight weeks left in which to solve the mystery of the steppes. After that it's going to be a long, cold winter.

Nazis Drive New Salient Into Red Defense

(By The Associated Press)

German panzer forces have driven a new 70-mile-deep salient into the heat of the soviet defense system between Moscow and Leningrad, the Russians acknowledged today, and Berlin reported that the 45-day-old conflict now had developed into two vast battles of annihilation.

While the Germans reported a great slaughter of trapped Red armies, the Communist party newspaper Pravda declared that "day by day our counter-attacks are becoming all the stronger and wider in scope".

Pravda said Hitler launched his invasion with gigantic forces, including 30 tank divisions totalling 15,000 tanks, 10,000 first line warplanes, and 170 divisions—two or three times the forces originally available to the Red army, the newspaper said.

Nazi military dispatches said the encirclement and destruction of large Red army forces south of Kiev, the Ukraine capital, was well underway and indicated that a clean-up in the bloody Smolensk sector, 230 miles west of Moscow, was in its final stages.

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters reported that Red army units attempting to smash their way out of a trap in the Ukraine had been "annihilated".

The communique also declared that in "a widening break through the region 100 kilometers (60 miles) southeast of Smolensk, a new enemy power group was partly annihilated and partly destroyed".

Reds Admit Thrust

The new German thrust knifed to the vicinity of Kholm, in the marshlands 70 miles east of last week's battlefield at Novorzhev, a Red army bulletin admitted. Kholm lies 180 miles south of Leningrad and 250 miles northwest of Moscow.

Authoritative quarters in London asserted that fierce Soviet resistance had compelled the Germans to abandon frontal attacks in the Smolensk sector and to direct their fury in drives south of Leningrad and on the grain-ripening fields of the Ukraine.

Nazi reports from the front indicated the Germans might be planning to by-pass Kiev and drive on to the Russian industrial center of Dnepropetrovsk, 185 miles southeast of Kiev on the Dnieper river. Dnepropetrovsk is the site of the heavy armament works and the center of a huge coal, iron and manganese producing region.

Some Gas Dealers in East Increase Prices This Morn

New York, Aug. 5—(AP)—Some gasoline dealers in Brooklyn and Queens today raised prices a half cent a gallon, a possible forerunner, according to large distributors, of a general prices increase throughout the 17 eastern seaboard states affected by the recently adopted 7 p. m. curfew.

Dealers who already have raised prices declared the increase necessary to meet sales losses suffered by voluntarily complying with Commissioner Ickes' 7 p. m. closing request.

Large companies such as Standard, Gulf, Sunoco and Texas have not raised prices at company-owned stations.

ICKES WATCHING

Washington, Aug. 5—(AP)—With filling station hours cut in half, Secretary of the Interior Ickes watched sales reports closely today to see if eastern motorists were reducing their gasoline consumption as much as one-third.

If the nightly blackouts of gasoline sales do not bring about the desired conversation of motor fuel, he warned, more drastic steps will be taken. Whether the next step would involve rationing was not announced.

Complete reports of yesterday's gasoline sales were lacking, but Ickes termed the general results of the first filling station curfew Sunday night "very satisfying." Nevertheless, he said there were some cases of non-compliance with the blackout request which would be followed up.

110,352 Illinois Men Recorded in Various Arms of Military Service

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—The number of Illinois men serving in various arms of the military service was placed officially today at 110,352.

State selective service headquarters made the compilation, which covers enlisted men, National Guardsmen and selective service inductees taken into the service up to July 26.

Selective service inductions during July boosted the total number of selectees above enlistments for the first time. These were the figures as announced by the office of Paul G. Armstrong, state draft director:

Inducted through selective service to July 26: 48,386.

Enlistments, army, navy, marines and coast guard: 46,289.

National Guardsmen: 15,477.

The state's draft quota for th's month was 3,917, and officials said they expected the September quota to be approximately the same number. The September requisitions for each local draft board in the state are in the process of preparation.

Including the 43,743 Illinois youths who registered for the draft on July 1, total state draft registrations were announced as 1,060,966. Selective service headquarters said its information was that, as yet, none of the draft boards in the state has exhausted its supply of registrants available for immediate service.

To Measure Wheat Acreage for 1942 AAA Compliance

Acreages of 1942 winter wheat will be measured for compliance with the AAA farm program this fall so that farmers with marketing quota excesses from their 1941 crop can satisfy marketing quota penalties within a few months, it is announced by Dale D. Rosenkrans, chairman of the Lee County Agricultural Conservation committee.

Wheat growers may obtain the release of 1941 excess stored under bond or escrow by seeding below their 1942 allotments. Penalty bond will be cancelled or money in escrow will be returned as soon as the 1942 acreage is determined to be sufficiently below the allotment.

The reduction will be determined in the same manner as the excess has been determined. Producers will be able to take out of storage and market without penalty the excess equal to the number of acres below their allotments times their normal yield.

For example, a farmer with a 100-acre wheat allotment and a 10-bushel per acre normal yield would be entitled to release 200 bushels of excess wheat if he cut his seeding to 80 acres. Farmers may obtain the release of all or part of their stored excess.

Growers may now obtain loans on their excesses at the rate of 60 per cent of the loan offered to AAA cooperators. By cooperating under the marketing quota system they protect their market from being flooded and so upheld their prices.

Cattle from Ogle County Among High Sellers

Ogle County cattle were among the high sellers reported on the Tuesday market at the Chicago Stock Yards last week. Fletcher Hammond, of Lindenwood, sent in a drove of yearling steers that was good enough to sell at $12 per cwt., one of the high sales of cattle for this class. The midweek cattle top at Chicago, $13 per cwt., equals the highest to date since the first week in June.

Reduced Freight Rates Will Benefit Patrons of the Kansas City Market

After an Interstate Commerce Commission investigation extending over a two-year period, the railroads, effective August first, have published tariffs granting substantial reductions on stocker-feeder livestock shipped to and purchased at terminal public markets. The tent of the tariff rules authorizing the reductions are significant for their very brevity. They contain two important paragraphs. In the first paragragh, the stocker-feeder shipper, who ships by rail to a terminal public market, is given a reduction in his freight rate amounting to 18 per cent. In the second paragraph, the stocker-feeder buyer, who purchases at a terminal public market, is given authority to use the railroad billing on the outbound shipment that results in a freight rate reduction amounting to more than 18 per cent.

These new tariff provisions will bring large benefits both to the livestock grower, who ships to a terminal public market, and the stocker-feeder buyer, who purchases at a terminal public market. It is unusual to have new railroad tariffs published that benefit all parties, but the new rules that authorize substantial reduction to both shipper and buyer is just such an arrangement. In view of the benefits, it can readily be understood why the Kansas City market was so elated when it received the news of the new basis of rates. And Kansas City has good reasons for being elated because of its being the largest stocker-feeder market and naturally this market will derive greater total benefits than some of the others.

Farmers' Picnic in Rochelle Set for August 28th

Announcement released by the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce reveals that plans for the 1941 Farmers Picnic at Rochelle have been completed, and that the public interest already developed indicates a far bigger crowd than ever before.

The date for the picnic this year is Thursday, August 28. The same grove will be used as has been for the past several years. Although this space was leased this year by the California Packing Corporation, they graciously refrained from breaking up a section of the blue grass sod sufficient for picnic use, and are permitting it to be used rent free for the picnic. This grove is located on South Main street across from the ball diamond.

Entertainment

Demand for ground space for exhibits and concessions have exceeded that of last year at this time. A full day of fun and entertainment is promised. Program manager, John Maxson reports that an excellent program is almost completed which will furnish fun and amusement for old and young the entire day. Grounds manager, Frank Eckhardt reports that there will be adequate parking space adjacent to the grounds, and plans have been made for taking care of this important detail quickly and efficiently.

Concession stands, eats stands, toy balloons, and hundreds of other novelties as well as games of skill are all under contract to help make the day one to be remembered. Thrilling riding devices for old and young will be on the ground. Picnic tables will be available for those wishing to bring their lunch. Three big eat stands are under contract to have food at prices not exceeding downtown prices. Free coffee will be available at the coffee stand, for all wishing coffee.

The days fun and enjoyment will be climaxed during the evening with a giant display of fireworks.

Farm Bureau Approves Soil Conservation Area in Ogle County

The executive committee of Ogle County Farm Bureau at their last meeting approved the idea of a soil conservation district for Ogle county or a part of the county to be determined by the extent of interest among farmers in the plan.

This action will make it possible for information to be given at community meetings and elsewhere to inform Ogle county farmers on the program which is available to them for continuing soil conservation practices under guidance of trained technicians. This program will be especially valuable if and when the CCC camp may be discontinued and farmers will want some organization through which to continue the conservation work that has been started and demonstrated by the Soil Conservation Service and CCC camp.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER to POULTRY RAISERS

Beans and bully beef are outdated as army fare.

They would no more think of feeding the boys that way today than they would of issuing swords and muskets as fighting equipment.

The scientific discoveries that have been made in the 20 years since the last war are being applied not only in equipping our armed forces, but in feeding them.

Today they speak of "food engineers" as well as military engineers.

And food engineers recognize the importance of eggs. Results of scientific tests have been the basis for food authorities stating that "next to milk, eggs are the most important food," and "a spoonful of egg yolks contains more food value than a spoonful of any other food."

A day's grocery bill for the army is about $700,000.

Of that amount about $40,000 is spent for eggs. In one day! Think of it! Imagine ordering 10 carloads of eggs for breakfast tomorrow! And this goes on day in and day out.

Army Is Being Well Fed

It's interesting to compare the way the boys are being fed with the way the "folks back home" are eating. In June the men in twenty army camps ate an average of 35 eggs apiece. That was 50 per cent more than civilians were eating.

They are getting a lot more chicken than the home folks, too. The suggested army menu calls for poultry once a week. And it takes about half a million chickens for a Sunday dinner!

These boys are being well-fed—there's no question about it. The army records show that new recruits are gaining an average of 10 pounds their first month in the army!

Balanced Ration Good for Humans

We have applied the principles of nutrition in feeding poultry and livestock because the value of a balanced ration showed up in our profits. However, as M. L. Wilson, director of extension work, told the hatcherymen at the International Baby Chick Association meeting, "it is a sad commentary that in the past more emphasis has been given to the balanced ration in feeding poultry and livestock, because the direct profits were obvious. The benefits of a balanced diet for humans, although more indirect, are just as great. But not until this emergency did this country begin to appreciate the importance of nutrition to our national health and morale."

He pointed out that the food-for-defense program is an emergency program. But the national nutrition program, which was started as a defense measure, will be continued after the war. "The two together," he said, "will bring to the poultry industry progress equal to or surpassing that which you have seen in the past 25 years."

That is the way the government feels about the poultry business.

And don't forget that the government is the biggest factor in the poultry and egg markets today—and will be for who knows how many years to come.

Sincerely yours,

Frank Priebe

DAIRYMEN FACED WITH ANNUAL HOT WEATHER PROBLEM

If Illinois farmers are to continue to cash in on favorable dairy prices and step up production for the food-for-defense program, hot weather, flies, short pastures and the busy farming season are a few problems that must be successfully met. This is the belief of C. S. Rhode, of the dairy department of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

By all means regular milking periods should be adhered to as closely as possible, since any marked change in the regular management of the dairy herd usually results in decreased milk and butterfat production, he said.

Allowing the herd to run down in flesh is poor practice, Rhode said. Too often this happens in late summer. The cows will freshen later on in the fall and winter in thin condition and will not produce as well nor as efficiently as cows that freshen in good flesh.

Dairymen who feed grain, silage, hay, or combinations of these feeds during the summer, say the practice pays. This system will pay even more next winter. A suitable grain mixture to be fed this time of year to cows on permanent pasture is five parts of ground corn or barley, two parts ground oats or bran and one part soybean, cottonseed or linseed meal.

Flies are partly responsible for low milk yields and thin cattle, contends Rhode. Cows should be protected from flies by giving them access to a darkened, cool stable during the heat of the day. The barn windows may be darkened by nailing building paper over them. Gunny sacks hung in the doorways will brush the flies from the cow's backs as they enter the barn. Fly sprays furnish some relief. A homemade fly spray may be made by mixing one-half pound pyrethrum, one gallon of kerosene and one cup of cresol compound. After 24 hours the mixture should be filtered through a cloth.

Lee County Farmers Will Soon Make Another Contribution to U. S. Defense

Many Lee county farmers will soon be making another contribution to the food for defense program when they harvest an increased amount of soybeans as grain, it is pointed out by Dale D. Rosenkrans, chairman of the Lee County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The amount of soybeans harvested for grain will be increased this year as a result of a ruling by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration allowing some Triple-A cooperators to harvest beans without deduction from their AAA payments.

U. S. Department of Agriculture officials determined in June that more beans would be needed for oil use as part of national defense needs. Provisions of the AAA farm program were relaxed to provide for this expansion.

Farmers not sure whether they can harvest more beans without payment deduction are advised to call on the county agricultural conservation committee.

Farmers Boosting Cash Returns By Stopping Erosion

Freeport, Ill., Aug. 5.—Net incomes of 22 Stephenson county farmers who farmed the "soil-saving way" last year averaged $156 a farm more than 22 farmers who ran their plows up and down hill, a summary of their complete farm record accounts of the 44 farmers has disclosed.

The 22 high income farmers, with the assistance of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture and the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, followed a planned program of soil conservation and erosion control. The other 22 were neighboring farmers whose places were similar in size, soil type and topography.

The 1940 farm account summaries showed that the utilization of larger acreage of legume hay and improved pastures on the cooperators' farms resulted in larger incomes from livestock, higher farm incomes and soil improvement from the manure produced as a result of the livestock feeding operations.

Result of Study

The summary is the result of an economic study on conservation programs and farm income which has been conducted by E. L. Sauer, of the Soil Conservation Service, and H. C. M. Case, head of the department of agricultural economics of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Cooperating farms averaged 158 acres, of which 94.2 acres were in crops. Non-cooperating farms averaged 157.2 acres, of which 102 were in crops. Cooperators had 70.7 per cent of their tillable land in crops, compared with 78.6 per cent for the others.

Returns from the sale of livestock products on the cooperating farms averaged $4,264, compared with $3,403 for the non-cooperators. Net income of the cooperators averaged $2,285, compared with $2,029 for the others.

Crop yields on the farms that followed improved land use and soil treatment, in addition to conservation practices—such as contour farming, strip cropping and terracing—were slightly higher than on the 22 non-cooperating farms.

22 Farms Cooperate

The 22 cooperating farms which were operated on the contour had less tillable land in soil depleting and cultivated crops; more land in legume hay and improved pastures; a significantly larger percentage of land in soil-building legumes; higher crop yields; produced more meat and milk to the acre, with subsequent larger livestock returns, and had higher net farm incomes than the 22 neighboring non-cooperating farms.

The study shows that contour farming has proved to be an economically, as well as a physically, sound conservation practice. It prevented the run-off of most of the rainfall during the growing season, greatly reduced soil and water erosion losses and resulted in substantially higher crop yields. In most instances contour farming was performed at no increase in farm operating costs, and in many instances the practice reduced farm-operating costs.

Woman Lands 818-Lb Tuna for New Record

Bailey Islands, Me., Aug. 5—(AP)—A new world's tuna fishing record for women was created Monday to Mrs. Maurice Meyer, Jr. of Elberon, N. J. after she landed an 818-pounder that measured just a shade under 10 feet in length.

The previous record was held by Mrs. Lyman Bloomingdale of New York, who boated a 792 pound tuna off Wedgeport, Nova Scotia, on September 1, 1940.

Weather Causes Sharp Revision of Estimates On Crop Production

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Favorable weather during July, except for a heat wave late in the month, has caused a sharp upward revision in private estimates of domestic wheat and corn production.

Four Chicago experts, completing their monthly surveys of the grain belt, estimated spring wheat production at 260,000,000 bushels, largest since the 265,000,000 harvest in 1932. This was an upward revision of 26,000,000 bushels from their figures a month ago and was 19,000,000 larger than the July 1 government estimate. Last year production totaled 228,000,000 bushels.

They also raised corn production estimates to 2,602,000,000 bushels thus, they said, despite the smallest corn acreage on record, a crop equaling that of 1939 is in sight due to favorable weather and large acreage of high yielding hybrid corn. The increase over the government estimate a month ago was 53,000,000 bushels while the prospective crop was figured 153,000,000 larger than last year's harvest.

The largest soybean harvest on record was predicted by two of the experts, Nat C. Murry and C. M. Galvin. The former estimated the crop at 106,000,000 bushels and the latter at 100,000,000. Last year's harvest was 79,837,000 bushels. Because of high prices, a larger percentage of the acreage is expected to be harvested for beans rather than for hay, the experts said but they also pointed out that present crop conditions are very favorable, with plants progressing ahead of normal in most areas.

Old Constables Can't Collect Bigger Fees

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Attorney General George F. Barrett has held in a formal opinion that constables elected prior to July 1 this year could not charge increased fees provided for in the sheriff's and constables fee law enacted in the recent session of the legislature.

Constables may collect the higher fees only after the expiration of their present terms of office, Barrett ruled. The opinion was written at the request of State's Attorney Lee E. Dabiels of Wheaton.

Belleville Big Stove Industries Threatened by Shortage of Scrap

Belleville, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Don S. Foster, secretary and manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, said the stove industry here may have to shut down in a month because of inability to obtain pig iron, steel and scrap iron.

Foster has just returned from Washington where he sought, unsuccessfully, to get a favorable priorities rating for the Belleville factories.

Twenty-three manufacturers of stoves and related items employ 2,200 persons.

About 24,000 additional miles of teletype lines will be added to the weather reporting system of the civil aeronautics administration by July 1.

PVT. FRANKLIN LUNDSTROM AND BUDDIES COMPOSE SONG FOR THIRTY-THIRD DIVISION

Dials of numerous Rock river valley radios will be tuned to station WBBM, Chicago, at 8:30 o'clock (Daylight Savings Time) Wednesday evening, to hear a coast-to-coast presentation of a new song, "The Thirty-Third Division Marching Song," composed by C. Franklin Lundstrom, well-known Oregon musician now in training at Camp Forrest, Tullahoma, Tenn. The march will be heard in a premiere presentation at Division headquarters this evening, when Mr. Lundstrom will present a manuscript copy of the song to Major General Lawton.

Corp. Carlyle W. Rees of Chicago, actor and writer, wrote the lyrics for the song, which promises to become the official marching song of the division. Sergeant Rankin Roberts, who is in charge of all broadcasts originating in Camp Forrest, plans to use the melody as the theme song for all broadcasts at his station and on maneuvers. The march is being dedicated to the 33rd division.

Franklin Lundstrom

Their "Marching Song" is the third number that Corporal Rees and Mr. Lundstrom have composed since becoming acquainted at Camp Forrest. The former was born in Mt. Morris, but six miles from Oregon, Mr. Lundstrom's birthplace; they both chose the arts as a profession (Corporal Rees being principally concerned with the theater); and during the past two summers, both were associated with summer theaters in northern Illinois, Corporal Rees acting and directing at Woodstock and Mr. Lundstrom, at Grand Detour — yet they had never met before arriving at Camp Forrest, where both are with Headquarters company, Special Troops, 33rd Division, and are stationed on the same floor of the same barracks.

Sergeant Paul Boynton has arranged the song for band and chorus, and the "Marching Song" will be presented by the 129th Infantry band (formerly of Mt. Morris, Ill.) under the direction of Warrant Officer Lee I. Douglas, and sung by the 124th Field Artillery chorus, directed by Pvt. Irving Levin. The verse will be sung by Pvt. Rex Hogan, baritone.

Others assisting with completion of the song and its presentation include: Sgt. Rankin Roberts, Chicago, well-known in the theater and radio, who aided in completion of the song; Sgt. Paul Boynton of Rockford, composer, arranger, and clarinet soloist with the 129th Inf. band, who made the band and chorus arrangement for the march.

Also Warrant Officer Lee I. Douglas of Mt. Morris, flute and piccolo artist and director of the 129th Inf. band; Pvt. Irving Levin of Chicago, pianist and composer and former director of the American Legion chorus of Chicago, now director of the 124th Field Artillery chorus; and Pvt. Rex Hogan, Alton, concert soloist, teacher and choral director, who conducts the division quartet.

Sergeant Boynton, who is only 21 years old, has already written several compositions for varied instruments. His latest song, "Captain Howard C. Bronson's March," was dedicated to Captain Bronson, former director of the 129th Inf. band.

Polo Pastor and Oswego Girl Are Wed in Aurora

The Marion Avenue Baptist church in Aurora was the scene of the wedding of Miss Margaret Norris, daughter of Ralph Norris of Oswego, Ill., and the Rev. Willis Plapp, pastor of the Evangelical church of Polo, Sunday evening. The single ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 o'clock by the bridegroom's father, Rev. E. E. Plapp, of Davis, assisted by the Rev. Paul Bishoff of Chicago and the Rev. Henry Clay Miller, retired pastor of the Aurora Baptist church, where the bride had been organist for several years.

Palms and gladioli were used to decorate the church, which was lighted with candles in candelabra. A program of nuptial music was played by Miss Virginia Johnson of Aurora. Two violin selections were played by Frederick Toenninges, director of music at the conservatory bearing his name, and the Royal Symphony orchestra.

The bride, who entered the church with her father, wore a white sheer crepe gown, a fingertip veil which fell from a tiara, and carried white gladioli.

Mrs. Curtis Killalea of Marsailles, as matron of honor, was dressed in apricot crepe, with a matching veil. She carried gladioli to match her gown.

The two bridesmaids, Mrs. Paul Bishoff of Chicago and Mrs. Robert Poindexter of Aurora wore light blue, and carried peach-colored gladioli. Louise Norris, the bride's niece, was flower girl and was wearing a blue frock.

Warren Miller of Oswego was best man. Ushers were Vance Plapp and Curtis Killalea.

A reception for 175 guests was held in the church parlors, following the ceremony. Members of the bride's piano and organ classes assisted with the serving.

Mr. Plapp and his bride left later on a wedding trip through northern Wisconsin. They will reside at the home of Mrs. Laura Bomberger in Polo, after their return.

Mrs. Plapp was graduated from Oswego high school and Aurora college. She holds two degrees in piano and organ, having majored in music in Chicago.

The bridegroom, son of the Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Plapp, was graduated from Stockton high school and North Central college, and last May, from the seminary in Naperville. He was ordained to the ministry in April, and was assigned to the Polo church.

Camp Life

(By The Associated Press)

Fort Bliss, Tex.—A 63rd coast artillery column pulled over to the side of a road.

A group of soldiers was perched on the back of a truck and engaged in commonplace conversation when a cheerful feminine voice interrupted with something which sounded like a yoo hoo.

The troopers stared. The silence was as heavy and cold as an iceberg.

"Well", the young lady asked in exasperation, "has the cat got your tongue?"

One of the men cleared his throat and rejoined:

"Listen, little girl, haven't you read the papers?"

Fort Jackson, S. C.—A few small weapons—plus American ingenuity—can smash a tank attack.

A non-combatant battalion of the 105th ordnance company was mending equipment back of the lines during mock warfare. Suddenly, three enemy tanks rumbled into view.

Capt. Carter Reeves realized the six rifles on hand would have no effect on the metal monsters. So he ordered his men to use smoke pots and tear gas.

The hell buggies roared into a blinding cloud of smoke. Tank No. 1 rammed a huge tree and stuck fast. Tank No. 2 climbed up the back of tank No. 1. The crews were captured.

Tank No. 3 wandered in the haze until the driver asked the way back to his base. The ordnance boys obliged by sending him off in the wrong direction.

A Thought for Today

Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile.—Psalms 34:13.

O mischief, thou are swift to enter in the thoughts of desperate men.—Shakespeare.

Overplaying the Hand

It has been galling to have to sit back and watch Germany insinuate itself into American countries by means which the United States dislikes to adopt and for which it has small talent.

But there is good hope today that the Germans have badly overplayed their hand. The very arrogance and effrontery which served them so well up to a point is now beginning to trip them up.

Bolivia stood for a lot. But when letters were found from their own military attache in Berlin to the German ambassador at La Paz detailing plans for a military coup, the Bolivians called a halt, and called it in words of one syllable.

Next piece of nazi effrontery was a circular letter to all Latin American governments demanding that they protest against the action of the United States in stopping shipment of American goods to nazi agents in Latin countries. Such cool crust has seldom been seen in diplomatic circles—at least not since Berlin was promising Mexio most of the American southwest in return for support in the World War.

But the Mexicans, who are a proud people, know how to answer a request that Berlin dictate its foreign policy. With the smooth and delightful language which has distinquished Mexican diplomatic correspondence in late years, Mexico replied to the Germans that she alone "is competent, in absolute fashion, to note on what occasions the liberty of commerce and the sovereignty of Mexico are injured."

Further, continued this little gem of diplomatic wordage: "I can assure your excellency that the road Mexico will take will be that which it esteems most appropriate, without the need of receiving or carrying out instructions of other authorities conveyed by any of the accredited diplomats in this capital."

A few North Americans have been annoyed at times when, in the oil controversy and other matters, Mexico and other Latin American countries have shown a quiet determination to go their own way. But when that same rugged spirit of independence shows itself equally determined to take no back talk from European totalitarians, we of the United States must feel a little thrill of pride.

Real Americans don't wait for the Star-Spangled Banner to be played to stand up for it.

Ickes in Deep Water

Secretary of the Interior-Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes recently uttered a strong blast at gasoline wasters—people who make jackrabbit starts with their cars, or permit them to smoke as though they were burning soft coal. Then Mr. Ickes sat down to see what effect his appeal would have.

Nothing happened, except a seasonable bulge in gasoline consumption due to vacation days.

Thereupon Mr. Ickes again warned that something must be done. Independent sources say eastern states may expect a drastic cut in gasoline supplies after Labor day. Gas stations may be limited as to the amount of gasoline they may distribute, or motorists may be issued gas ration cards, or something.

Presumably laws may be enacted to give effect to Mr. Ickes yearnings. Whether such laws can stand up in the supreme court in time of peace, in a republic devoid of ditcatorship, depends entirely upon the nature of the supreme court.

If when congress has not declared an emergency; when we are not at war; when there is an abundance of gasoline—if, when all these things are true, Mr. Ickes can began rationing gasoline among people who never elected him to office, that will show how near we have approached to dictatorship. It is argued that congress can enact laws to provide for the general welfare, and certainly it could divert supplies of gasoline and transportation thereof for the general welfare. How far the general welfare extends toward Europe is something for the supreme court to decide. When the general welfare clause was written, and when the declaration of independence was inscribed, the general welfare was quit a homey subject and did not embrace Indo-China, Singapore, the Red sea and Plymouth, England. Quite the contrary.

If Mr. Ickes gets his wish we shall have another brand of prohibition. They restored us our personal liberty and now they want to make it harder for us to drive automobiles—all in the name of democracy and general welfare.

New Weapons

It is most encouraging to see the Army come out with two new weapons which suggest that it has really been studying the needs of modern warfare.

First, a new carbine, a semi-automatic light rifle weighing only five pounds, and only three feet long. All infantry officers below the rank of major, all non-commissioned officers, and many special troops, engineers, machine gunners, and the like, will carry it. This is a businesslike means of increasing by almost 50 per cent the number of rifles in an infantry regiment, replacing the defensive, 50-yard pistol with an offensive-defensive 300-yard light carbine.

Second, a new half-trac truck mounting a 75-mm. field gun is already coming off the assembly lines. Such a weapon in the hands of France might have stopped the German tank blitz which broke through the French army. Criticism based on pictures showing U. S. field pieces being pulled backward into position is here answered. This gun could even fire pointblank with the truck in motion.

Starting fires with care is a fine theory but in just a few months you'll find out you need coal.

An eastern church burned—and, for once, the congregation was there.

LESSONS IN LOVE

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

COPYRIGHT, 1941, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Barbara, Dugan and Uncle Hank are invited to Larry's place for the week-end. After they arrive, Hank takes Dugan aside, tells him he has learned that a rival oil company, the same one involved in business deal with Hank, has offered Dugan a job. When Hank tells Barbara, she rushes to Dugan and accuses him of being a thief. Angered, he takes her by the hand and they set out together to find Hank and talk over the matter.

CHAPTER VIII

DUGAN dragged Barbara down the hall to her uncle's room, knocked a couple of times and entered.

"I haven't been invited," he said abruptly, "but I came anyway, in defense of myself. In the first place, Hank, I've been looking for you all night to explain that Midwest proposition. You know, I might have expected such distrust and suspicion from your lovely niece, but certainly not from you."

He looked from one to the other. Barbara sat, still stunned by Dugan's explosive action.

"I can't say much more right now, Hank," Dugan continued. "In a few days I'll give you the details. However, that proposition from Midwest had absolutely nothing to do with the fact that I advised you to sell that tract of land to them a couple of days ago.

"You'll just have to believe me, that's all, Hank. Still further, for your information, I had no intention of leaving your organization for any price. You should have known that. I was going to ask you for a three months' leave of absence. Yes, I was going over to Midwest for 90 days—with your permission."

He paused for breath. Hank Chase looked bewildered.

"I can't tell you any more right now, but of course you don't have to listen at any time, especially since you don't particularly place much faith in me at present."

Hank Chase extended his hand. "Dugan, I don't know what's in the wind, but I'm a little ashamed of myself to think what I did. After all these years . . . knowing you since you were a kid in torn breeches. I'm sorry, Dugan. Forgive me?"

The hard lines in Dugan Blake's face softened. He gripped Hank Chase's hand.

Then he turned to Barbara. "I'm sorry you called me a thief," he said strangely. His voice had a brittle tinge to it. "And I'll be very glad to move out of your house." He bowed slightly.

DUGAN, strolling past the house the next day shortly after lunch, wandered over to a group watching Sue Bishop shoot arrows at a big target 40 feet away.

"Come here, Barbara," she called disgustedly. "I never was any good at this stuff in school and I'm worse now. Show the folks how an expert bends this hunk of wood, will you?"

Barbara, sprawled on the grass, laughed and got to her feet. She took the bow from Sue and in rapid succession put three arrows into the blue circle next to the small golden bull's eye. A murmur of admiration rose from the group watching.

Dugan Blake couldn't resist the impulse. He found himself walking out and taking the bow from Barbara's unprotesting hand.

Quickly fitting an arrow to the string, he sighted briefly and let fly. It smacked into the gold center. So did a second arrow. The third practically split his first two.

He handed the bow back to Barbara. "Talents no end," he mocked, and he saw her lips tighten.

Barbara saw the grins on the encircled faces as Dugan walked away.

Sue whispered over her shoulder. "It's about time you gave up, don't you think, before this gang discovers he can even thread a needle faster than you."

"Knowing what I do about needles and the art of threading them, I'm pretty well convinced that he can," Barbara replied gloomily.

"I HOPE you're not disappointed in me," Dugan told Larry as he tried on the boots which had been loaned to him. "You easterners play a mighty tough brand of polo, and I'm not kidding myself, either."

Larry snorted. "Listen, guy. From what I've heard about the way you handle a horse and mallet, I'm just wondering whether we can keep up with you. Let's go."

They trotted past a string of cars as they came onto the field. Larry waved at Barbara seated on the rear of a convertible. Dugan rode past without so much as a glance.

Larry placed Dugan at the hard-riding No. 1 position, and instantly Dugan felt a tingle shoot through him. It felt good, sitting on a smart, fast pony again. It felt good, too, to lunge at the ball, hear and feel the meaty crack as wood connected with wood.

In the first chukker, he scored two goals, one of them on a solo dash up the field on a 50-yard final terrific smash through the posts.

"Nice going!" Larry yelled, and Dugan grinned back.

On the sidelines Barbara turned begrudging but appreciative eyes on the dark-faced No. 1 who looked as though he was part of the horse rather than a rider, as he rode off the enemy and swung his mallet with a seemingly reckless but unerring manner.

"You've got to hand it to him," Sue Bishop murmured. "The man's good and there's no denying it."

"I'm not denying it," Barbara countered. "He's terrific—as a polo player, of course. There hasn't been a better rider on this field since Tommy Hitchcock played here five years ago."

Sue arched a surprised eyebrow. "All that from you?"

"Have to give the devil his due."

"Yon Mister Grover doesn't do so badly, himself," Sue observed. "He's playing a better game than ever, or hadn't you noticed?"

Barbara agreed, but as the horses thundered up and down the field her eyes somehow always managed to pick out the Briar Hill No. 1 man.

She didn't know Uncle Hank had come up until he spoke.

"From one extreme to the other," said Uncle Hank, nodding in the general direction of Dugan. "What do you mean?"

He grinned. "A week ago you were complaining about the utter lack of masculinity in these parts. Now you've got a sample which has you all but begging for mercy."

"And if that's only a sample," Sue cracked, "just think what would happen if he were the actual product."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Aug. 4—All this Tokyo talk about having 2 million soldiers ready for a new fray is just so much colossal nerve in a war of nerves. Japan is the third most war weary nation in the world. The other two, Italy and Spain, are flat on their backs.

Japan cannot produce much over 1,250,000 men for a presentable army. She has the men, but not the equipment (her saturation point is 66 divisions, ranging from 16,000 to 22,000 men each.) Up to two weeks ago she had 57 divisions organized on the job (about 1,000,000 men.) Thirty-seven divisions were in China proper. The rest were scattered around, ten in Manchuria, four at home, four in Formosa and Hainan, two in Korea. She is calling up an additional 250,000 men, but some of them will have to be armed with chopsticks.

Thinner and thinner, further and further is the Japanese military line being stretched. If the Chinese had worthwhile equipment they could walk back into Shanghai today. As it is all the Chinese can do is increase their guerilla warfare.

To conquer Malasia, as Japan is threatening, she will need a coordinated effort by strong forces of her army, air corps (3,600 planes now) and navy. The area is larger than the whole Mediterranean. Her navy is free but her army is tied down by commitments elsewhere.

This apparently explains why Roosevelt—in the midst of loud war threats from Tokyo—decided to take a ten days sailing vacation and asked not to be disturbed.

Fighting spirit of soldiers still counts most in wars. Machines are only implements for it.

This is what the army is trying to say in justification of its mass army policies against its critics like Rep. Ross Collins who want machines, machines, machines.

The new fighting creed of this nation's arm (which is likely to be pinned to the wall at the bedhead of every soldier) may well be a leading editorial in this month's Infantry Journal, answering accusations that the general staff has an infantry mind. It's gist:

"The infantry mind is a mind which thinks men are the essence of fighting, that the hearts, guts and blood of soldiers win wars, that bombers, tanks and jeeps; howitzers, guns and mortars; grenades, pursuit planes and rifles—are tools in the hands of men, of fighting men, and can never win wars by themselves".

"The infantry mind is the same mind as the air force mind, the armored force, the quartermaster, the field artillery and ordnance mind, —one single mind with one single, hard-driving aim —the defeat, the crushing defeat of the enemy".

This new house tax provision to encourage the decline of marriage among successful working (as well as rich) men and women, would probably hit Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt mighty hard. It will pile Mrs. Roosevelt's working income on top of Roosevelt's and thus subject it to perhaps three or more its normal tax (depending on its amount which has never been made public.)

The provision will not survive congressional discussion, because it cannot be justified as a fair tax increase. It multiplies existing taxes, three, four, five times or more against a particular class of people.

The Japs are edging into Indo-China air bases 600-700 miles from the Far Eastern citadel of the British at Singapore, yet no one here is much worried about the base being bombed out of existence. Effective bombing ranges are definitely limited in this war so far. The Germans, for instance, have been able to blitz Liverpool all-out several times but not the main British reception port of Glasgow, although their bases are but 500 miles away from that prized objejctive.

Aviation book give great ranges for present day bombers, but the truth is they have to sacrifice either bombs or gasoline for maximum efficiency. They can choose to carry a formidable number of bombs a short distance or an inconsequential number of bombs a long distance.

The point in the last World war emergency was to "Hooverize". Users of sugar, wheat, silk or whatnot — everyone Hooverized voluntarily and enthusiastically.

Now the idea is to Ickesate.

Doug Mills Is Named Athletic Director at UI

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—Douglas R. Mills, basketball coach at the University of Illinois, was named acting athletic director for one year today by the board of trustees.

His selection was by unanimous vote and followed recommendations by Dr. Arthur C. Willard, president of the university, and the board's athletic committee.

Mills, a former star football and basketball player at the university, will replace Wendell S. Wilson, removed after a controversy of long standing with Head Football Coach Robert C. Zuppke. Wilson last month was retained for a year as athletic director but on a leave of absence basis.

Mills' salary was increased $500 to $6,000 a year. Under the new arrangement he will continue as head basketball coach and assistant to Zuppke in football. Chester Davis, of Chicago, chairman of the trustees' athletic committee, said Mills understood he was to devote full time to the duties, spending his summers at the university in athletic affairs.

Davis described Mills, whose contract begins Sept. 1, as "the most active member of the university's athletic department," and his indorsement of the new acting athletic director was echoed by Park Livingston, another trustee, who said Mills was "the high school athlete's idol in this state."

The only member of the board absent from today's meeting was Homer Mat Adams, of Springfield.

Mills, 33 years old, was graduated from the university in 1930. He had been captain of the Illini basketball team in 1929 and 1930. After a high school coaching career in Elgin, Ill., he went to the university Sept. 1, 1935, as head basketball coach, assistant football coach and a member of the physical education staff.

The controversy between Coach Zuppke and Athletic Director Wilson, himself a former Illini star, reached climax last month when in a stormy session the trustees decided that Zuppke should retain his job for at least another year and Wilson should remain for another year, but spend it on a leave of absence.

Accordingly, Wilson will remain in office, but not active, until Sept. 1, 1942. The "acting" will remain in Mills' athletic director title at least until that date.

Zuppke, with a reputation as a gridiron strategist, has coached at the university since 1913, compiling a record dotted with upset wins. Under him, Illinois won or shared seven Big Ten championships, but last season was the low point in his record. His squad lost seven games after winning the opener.

Colombia Joins in Battle to Defeat Nazi Infiltration

Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 5—(AP)—Colombia has joined the growing list of Latin American countries taking action against anti-democratic activities by announcing that an attempt to indoctrinate the army with totalitarian ideals had been nipped.

Detention of an undisclosed number of persons—unofficial estimate ranged from 40 to 200—and seizure of quantities of documents were announced last night by War Minister Castro Martinez in connection with an investigation into alleged subversive activities.

The Bogota radio charged that nazi elements were behind the movements. There were rumors that a least one German was among those detained, but the German legation denied any German nationals were being held.

Nazi-ism Assailed

Disclosure of the government investigation followed by two weeks a message to congress in which President Eduardo Santos bitterly assailed nazi-ism and said that Colombia's position as a neighbor of Panama obligated her to see that the Panama Canal never is menaced from her territory.

In his formal announcement the War minister assured the nation that the situation was completely in hand and said there was no cause for anxiety.

An informed source said the German legation had for several months been printing a special Spanish edition of German army bulletins for distribution to Colombian armed forces. This source said it was common to see uniformed soldiers and sailors calling at the legation for bulletins and other nazi printed matter.

Hurry Completion of Plan to Carry Out New ADC Laws

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Completion of a working plan for administration of the $8,000,000—year aid to dependent children program voted by the recent general assembly was being rushed by the state Department of Public Welfare today under a schedule calling for its submission to federal authorities by August 15 for approval.

Fletcher C. Kettle, public assistance superintendent for the welfare department, said he hoped the state's plan would receive the approval of the federal social security authorities early enough so that the state may begin accepting applications for assistance by September 1. Payments are scheduled to begin Oct. 1 under the law.

Kettle said that notice of examinations for county welfare superintendents' and assistants' posts would be mailed out by the state merit system council in a day or two. No date was set for examinations, but the deadline for receiving applications for the county jobs under the child aid program will be August 26.

State Appointments

Three applicants for each county job will be certified to county advisory boards by the merit system council, selected on the basis of examinations, and advisory boards will make recommendations to fill the posts from the names submitted to them. Actual appointment of county assistants will be made by state Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon.

Superintendent Kettle explained that applications cannot be received prior to federal approval of the state's administrative plans because until the plans are approved no federal funds will be available for carrying on the program.

Under the child aid program, the state will contribute $4,000,000 annually with the federal government appropriating an equal amount.

ROUTE FOR SUNDAY'S TRAIL RIDE

Michael Coffey, whose prestige as a meal-planner was established when he and Mrs. George Cason arranged the "spread" for the big trail ride from the Babson farms several weeks ago, will display his talents again this Sunday when the Rock River Trail and Horseman Association stages an event for members only. Art Keithahn, secretary of the organization, reports that already about 50 reservations have been received and that many more are expected. The equestrians will leave the Dickey Riding Academy at 8:30 a. m. (CST) and ride through Assembly Park, west along the river bank and through town to Reynoldswood. From there they will follow the river for about three miles before cutting across through timber land to Lowell park and thence to Hazelwood where dinner will be served. The afternoon ride includes a two-and-a-half mile jaunt through Lowell park and Hazelwood.

THUMBS UP—FOR A RIDE

Pete Phalen, manager of the Dixon Junior Legion baseball team, is seeking transportation for the lads to some major league game in Chicago soon. All Junior Legion lads are admitted to either Windy City park free, and all they need now is the generosity of some local men to get them there. As yet there is no gasoline shortage in the Middle West, so how about it, fellows? Pete has several dates when he can take the boys to Chicago, and if you'll help, he'd like to hear from you at once.

IN THE BOX SCORE AGAIN

The name of "Ward Miller" dropped the title of Lee county treasurer last night and wast just plain Miller in the lineup of the Old Timers game at Milwaukee where the former Cubs player went to play in the game sponsored by Manager Charlie Grimm and his Milwaukee Brewers. The game—mostly fun—gave the veteran outfielder his chance to demonstrate he still has some of the fire that put him in the majors back in the Roaring Twenties. He played two innings and was credited with one put out when he snagged a fly ball in spite of the glare of modern arcs. He appeared at the plate once and sent a fly ball out to left field—anyway, he demonstrated he can still see 'em as they cut the plate. Horace Hartman went to Milwaukee with Ward and they returned to Dixon about 2:30 this morning after giving the 30-foot dutch lunch table the once over lightly. Among the veteran pitchers who appeared on the mound for the Old-Timers were Red Faber, former White Sox player (with Bob O'Farrell, formerly of St. Louis, receiving), Doug McWenney, Burlie Grimes, Eckhart and Charlie Grimm. Jimmy Wilson, present Cubs' boss, and several members of the team (including Charlie Root) were on hand in the cheering section.

COVERING THE WATERFRONT

With the departure of Don Phillips to the Army, Lifeguard John Mitchell was left with heavy duty at the Lowell park beach. He is now being assisted by John Jensen who also keeps a weather eye out for those who swallow too much of Rock river. The local beach has been very popular during the hot weather and night swimming under the lights continues until 10 o'clock each evening. The supervision at the beach will close early in September.

POUNCES ON PRINCETON PLAYER

Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Calif., defeated Eugene Gildermaster of Princeton, Ill., 6-0 and 6-0, yesterday in the opening day of the National Boys' and Juniors' Tennis tournamenets at Culver, Ind. Gildermaster's tennis talents are well known to the members of the Dixon Beier's team and 1941 players on the local high school squad.

DIXONITES TO SUPPORT "CHARLIE ROOT DAY"

Ex-Cub player Ward Miller, who declares: "Baseball was more than a game or profession to me—it was a religion", is getting up steam for local contributions for the Charlie Root day in Chicago Sunday. All over this area fans are contributing dimes for the big event and Ward is leaving papers at various business houses here where fans may "sign up" in honor of the veteran hurler, the grandpappy of the Cubs.

TONIGHT AT POLO

Polo's popular softball league breaks into action again tonight at the lighted athletic field where the Smith Oils meet Brookville in the opening contest and the Peats collide with Tony's Ranch in the curtain-dropper.

JUNIOR CHAMBER GOLF TOURNEY

Clarence Vroegindewey who is helping to promote the Dixon Junior Association of Commerce golf tourney to be held Thursday afternoon at Plum Hollow, reports that already about 20 fellows have indicated that they will play and many more are expected. It looks like a big day on the links and to top it off there will be a feed at the clubhouse after the last players straggle over the 18th hole.

LIGHTED LAKEFRONT

Workmen have completed the installation of floodlights at Lake Mendota and many LaSalle county swimmers have been taking nocturnal dips these hot nights. Other improvements at the playground include oiling of the road so that you needn't fear flying dust in your sandwiches.

SOFTBALL GAMES HERE TONIGHT

Two more league softball games are on tap for the Airport ball yard tonight. In the first game the Three Deuces (won 4, lost 5) meet the United Cigars (won 7, lost 2). In the nightcap the Nachusa lads (won 2, lost 6) meet the Bordens team (won 4, lost 5).

MOUNDERS WIN

Jack Harvath, pitcher-manager of the Mt. Morris Cardinals, held the Sterling Rockets to six hits in the game at Sterling Sunday as his mates chalked up an 8 to 3 victory. Six errors by the hosts were all to the benefit of the invaders.

ROCKY MAY COME HERE, TOO

When Eddie Zajac, noted Chicago bowlers and members of the Classic League team come here for an exhibition at the Dixon Recreation early September, it is more than likely that Rocky Wolfe, noted Chicago sports scribe, will tag along for the fun. Rocky has been here several times (he helped to dedicate the lighted field last fall) and has won many friends in this area. His return to Dixon is certain to produce an enthusiastic reception.

PLAN BENEFIT GAMES

Officials of the Rochelle softball league and the Rochelle United Service Organization are considering plans for an all-star softball game to be played in Rochelle, Friday, Aug. 15. It is being planned to bring the Camp Grant team there to meet a team composed of Hub City stars. All proceeds will be donated to the U. S. O.

HOW THEY PICKED 'EM

We came back to town to learn that among the local ballots case in the Chicago Tribune's all-star football poll were two late ones by John Sullivan and Jack McGrail, each of whom picked Piepul of Notre Dame for a fullback and Genoar of Loras as a guard.

HOT WEATHER FANNING

Don Whitmore of Mendota, the lad who set the state high school record in the javelin event before it was discontinued, has claimed more athletic honors. On Sunday he pitched the Mendota baseball team to a 4 to 2 victory over the Peru Maroons as he held the opponents to four hits and struck out a dozen batsmen. The week before, Don whiffed 25 of the Peru Parks' sluggers.

Hambletonian Stake Favorite Is Sick With Fever; Race Is Tomorrow

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 5.—(AP)—This little village in the hills was getting all dressed up today for its annual big day, but the holiday spirit spreading through the neighborhood passed right on by Dos Parshall's barn at Good Time park.

Doc's rosy hopes of winning his third Hambletonian Stake tomorrow, and becoming the first owner-trainer-driver to turn the trick in the Corn Tassel Derby, were sick with a high fever.

These hopes are all wrapped up in a three-year-old tagged Perpetual. He looked like a mighty good thing for the $45,000 jackpot off his three recent stake victories, the latest only last Saturday at Historick track. But Doc walked into Perpetual's stall last evening and found the colt ailing so badly with a temperature of 103 that he was just about sure his standard-bearer wouldn't be in first-rate condition before tomorow's big heat, much less in time for the filing of entries today.

New Favorites

With the hopes of the Ohio ace on the point of disappearing, the talk of the early-arriving hundreds centered around Bill Gallon, the brown colt owned by R. H. Johnston of Charlotte, N. C., and the choice of many as far back as last fall. Although Bill Gallon has been no ball of fire in his races this year, there were still many who figured he'd be sharp for this 16th Hambletonian and ready to take any of the other eight or nine expected entries.

If Perpetual isn't ready to go, Bill's biggest threats probably will come either from His Excellency, owned by William Strang of Brooklyn, or Fast Train, from the stable of E. T. Gerry, the New York Harness Racing commissioner.

Besides these three, the more-or-less definite starters include Marwynna, owned by Sullivan and Mawhinney of Machias, Maine; Double Guy, hope of Dr. Anderson Arbury, of Mildland, Mich.; Dunbar Bostwick's Hollyrood Anna; Arden Homestead stable's locally-owned Flordimel; and Lucy Hanover, from the Hanover, (Pa.) Shoe farms. Listed as doubtful starters are the Kentuckians—Far, owned by Harkness Edwards of Donerail, and Colleen Scott, running in the silks of the veteran Ben White of Lexington.

Forreston Wins All-Star Softball Game At Polo, 15-11

FEATURE TILT IS SPECKLED WITH SIXTEEN ERRORS

Peats Defeat Grand Detour Team in Opener, 13-7

Maybe it's the title "all-stars" which puts the stinger on the boys and makes them feel the pressure. Anyway, it looked that way in the all-star event at Polo last night when the Forreston invaders won a 15 to 11 decision in the softball event in a game speckled with 16 errors.

The Polo hosts took the lead with two runs in the opening canto on a hit by Linker, a walk and two errors. They scored again in the second frame with hits by Cross and J. McGrath and two more errors.

Forreston scored first in the second inning with three runs, one a homer clear out of the lot by Lahre. After that frame the winners continued to get at least one hit in all other innings and put on a spree in the ninth with five runs, one a homer by Franks.

Franks was the winning pitcher and he permitted 13 hits in the nine innings while walking three and fanning two.

Livingston was the losing chucker and he allowed 15 hits, walked three and struck out three.

In the opening game the Peat's team of Polo defeated the Grand Detour club, 13 to 7.

MINNESOTA MATRON LEADS WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNAMENT

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—A Minnesota matron with two children who was overlooked in the pre-tourney predictions led the field into the second round today in the Women's Western Derby golf meet at Medinah country club.

Mrs. Hayes Dansingburgh of St. Paul held a two-stroke lead over Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., after the opening 18-hole round, firing a one under par 76 on the tough layout. Miss Wall's 78 gave her a strong hold on second place, three strokes ahead of Virginia Ingram of Chicago.

The meet consists of today's 18-hole round and two more on Wednesday and Thursday, the only 72-hole medal play meet for women in the country.

Mrs. Frank Newell Hicks of Long Beach, Calif., the defending champion, tied with Phillis Otto, Atlantic, Ia., youngster, for fourth both had 82s.

The motorists who pulls up to the curb and then honks his horn would be silenced under a newly patented device. It keeps the horn from sounding when the car is not in motion.

"PLAE DAY" TO BE HELD AUG. 7 AT ROCHELLE

State golfers whose names make headlines and a host of "everyday" players are expected to tee off for the 13th annual "Plae Day" to be held at the Rochelle country club Thursday.

Announcement regarding the event have ben mailed to all members and clubs in northern Illinois and one of the largest crowds in the history of the tournament is expected. Listed among the top-notch players who may attend are Al Huske, Larry Moler, Warren and George Dawson, Don Armstrong and Hank Bowbeer.

Members of the Rochelle club may invite as many guests as they wish, and non-members of the club are welcome. Tee-off time has been set at noon, yet an effort will be made to have as many Rochelle golfers as possible to play nine holes in the morning so the course will not be so crowded in the afternoon.

Howard Kahler is chairman of the event and he has expressed the opinion that between 150 and 200 golfers will participate. Dinner will be served in the dining room of the club by Mrs. Henry Harms and a program has been arranged for after dinner.

Golf prizes, many of which are donated by Rochelle business houses, will be awarded on a handicap basis, so that the inexperienced players will have the same opportunity to win as the experts.

Several players from Dixon are planning to participate in the event.

Californian Is New Threat in Tennis Tourney

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 5—(AP)—As though California, which practically has a monopoly on tennis honors these days, wasn't doing well enough in the net game this season, that state turned up today with a hitherto unexpected threat in the Eastern Grass Court championships.

He's only a youngster, is 19-year-old Earl Cochell, a Los Angeles red-head, and his chief previous claim to fame was the fact he almost won the intercollegiates a year ago. When the eastern started last Saturday, he was rated about as much chance as lasting long as a near-sighted ball boy.

Yet, as the tournament settled down to tougher competition today, now that all first round and some second round matches have been completed in both men's and women's singles, Earl definitely was the dark horse.

Of course, he doesn't figure to knock off ranking contenders like Bobby Riggs and Don McNeill and Frankie Kovacs. But, nevertheless, there it is in the third round after two straight-set victories. The last of these was a 7-5, 6-1 whipping he handed the former South American champion, Francisco Segura of Ecuador yesterday.

The ranking contenders don't have to worry about Earl today, because they have other opponents with whom to tangle. In the feature match, Kovacs, third-seeded in this tournament, takes on Gene Mako, the Los Angeles veteran and ex-Davis cup star, in a second-round engagement.

National Champion McNeill looked for an easier tussle against William Umstaedter of Millburn, N. J.

BROOKLYN SET TO FEAST IN EAST

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The brash Brooklyn Dodgers are back home, hoping to fatten their pennant appetite on helpless eastern brethren, and everything is in their favor.

After floundering around the west for several days they managed to return with a four-game winning streak and last night they promptly made it five by overpowering the staggering New York Giants, 11-6.

From now until the western clubs start their final circuit of the east August 18 the Dodgers opposition will be the Giants, whom they have beaten seven out of 11; the Boston Braves, who have been their victims nine out of 11; and the last-place Phillies, whom they have whipped in 11 out of -2.

The Dodgers are back in stride. Both Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe have become winning pitchers again. Dolph Camilli has regained his batting eye, hitting over .400 since his visit to a hospital. And the whole club has regained the drive which characterized it at the start of the season.

Brooklyn on the Spot

Last night Brooklyn had to battle to win, after Babe Young put the Giants in front, 2-0, with a double and a homer in the first four frames.

Manager Leo Durocher put in Dixie Walker as a pinch hitter in the fifth and he doubled for a run. In the sixth he doubled with the bases loaded in a four-run flurry.

When Ken O'Dea's pinch-homer with the bases loaded in the seventh tied the score, the Dodgers danced right back with a five-run encore.

Meanwhile the St. Louis Cardinals face a sterner task. They have to subdue the Pittsburgh Pirates, cincinnati Reds and the Chicago Cubs, all of whom are striving to get back into the race.

Yesterday they cuffed the Cubs, 4-2, all right, but they lost the services of their keystone star, Frank (Creepy) Crespi, who was hit in the face by a line-drive during pre-game practice. If he were lost for any length of time now it would be a hard blow.

13th Victory

They got along without him yesterday because Lefty Ernie White pitched seven-hit ball to gain his 13th victory, his sixth in 17 days.

In the only other National League contest John Lanning held the Reds to three hits while the Pirates plowed to a 4-1 triumph.

The New York Yankees hit the winning trail again with a 7-5 decision over the last-place Washington Senators. The Yanks bunched seven of their eight hits into three successive innings. The blows included four triples.

A ninth-inning home run by Jimmie Foxx decided a 7-6 struggle in favor of the Boston Red Sox over the Philadelphia Athletics in the only other major league game.

OSMANSKI ALL-STAR

New York.—Joe Osmanski, Holy Cross halfback, has accepted an invitation to play with the Eastern All-Stars against the New York Giants in the Fresh Air Fund game at the Polo Grounds, Sept. 3.

TOO MANY PITCHERS

New York.—Chief reason the New York Giants have suddenly hit the skids is their lack of capable pitching. Bill Terry used 200 hurlers in 92 games.

MANHATTAN ADDITION

New York.—Stephen J. Grenda of Lawrence, Mass., was named coach of Manhattan College's freshman football squad by Herbert M. Kopf, director of athletics. Grenda captained the 1932 Columbia eleven.

The temperature is 100 degrees Centigrade, boiling point of water, 38 miles above the earth's surface.

SNAVELY WILL COACH ALL-STARS

Chicago, Aug. 5. — (AP)—Carl Snavely of Cornell has been nominated as the next football coach to devise a means of bottling the powerful T-formation man-in-motion offensive.

Snavely accepted appointment yesterday as head coach of the college all-stars who will play the Chicago Bears, pro champions, in Soldier Field Aug. 28. The Bears won the title last fall with the man-in-motion attack just as Stanford ran through a stiff schedule undefeated with the same type of offense.

The All-Stars will report next Sunday to Snavely and his aides—Fritz Crisler of Michigan, Lynn Daldorf of Northwestern, Babe Hollingbery of Washington State and Homer Norton of Texas Agies. The collegians, headed by Michigan's Tom Harmon and Forest Evashevski, will practice at Northwestern while the Bears will condition themselves at Delafield, Wis.

George Halas, president and coach of the Bears, already has predicted victory for his club, which tied and defeated the All-Stars in two previous clashes.

Only 13,000 seats remain unsold for the game, virtually assuring a sellout crowd of about 85,000 for the lakefront night battle.

FELLER MAY NOT BE CALLED TO ARMY UNTIL SEASON ENDS

Cleveland, Aug. 5—(AP)—Bob Feller, baseball's leading pitcher, was called to a doctor's office today for a preliminary physical draft examination.

If pronounced fit, the 22-year-old Cleveland ace will undergo a later test by army doctors before being inducted.

Selective service officials said there was little chance of the Iowan wearing a soldier's uniform before the end of the season. His board number is 2,857 and less than 2,500 registrants have been classified.

"It's a matter of weeks before he will be classified," Dr. W. L. Townsend, one of the board members, said recently. "We're not even close to Feller."

Defense Tax Bill–

dition to the present normal income tax rate of four per cent, which was continued. But even at that, a married man earning $2,500 and having no dependents would pay $38.50 under the new plan compared with his present tax of $11.

The new yield from individual income taxes was expected to be in the neighborhood of $829,900,000.

Many New Taxes Provided

Approximately $1,322,900,000 would be raised from corporations through surtaxes, stiffer excess profits taxes and a drastically revised method of computing them.

Besides the direct taxes on both individuals and corporations, the bill would impose almost 40 new or higher excise taxes on commodities and services to raise about $880,100,000. These levies included a $5 annual use tax on all passenger automobiles, a five per cent tax on everyone's monthly telephone bill and 10 per cent excises on a host of things such as luggage, jewelry, furs, cosmetics, business machines and musical instruments.

Responsible officials expect the nation's total revenues this fiscal year to approximate $12,500,000,000, including the $3,206,200,000 estimated yield from the pending tax bill. Spending, however, is scheduled to be in excess of $22,269,000,000, for a deficit of nearly $10,000,000,000. The same sources forecast a national debt of $57,85,000,000 by June 30, 1942, the end of the fiscal year.

Publisher Named to Serve in U. S. Senate

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 5.—(AP) Roger C. Peace, 42-year-old publisher of the Greenville News-Piedmont, was appointed United States senator from South Carolina by Governor Burnet R. Maybank today to serve until October 15 when the elected successor will take over to serve the remainder of the term of Supreme Court Justice James F. Byrnes, expiring in 1943.

Peace succeeds Alva M. Lumpkin, who died last Friday in Washington, shortly after he had relinquished a federal judgeship to take Byrnes' senate seat by appointment July 10 from Maybank.

Maybank is among the three candidates seeking the office in the special Democratic primary of September 2.

Highway users in the United States now are paying approximately $450,000,000 annually in "emergency" general taxes to the federal government.

CIO Convention Stirred by Words of Aviation Chief

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 5—(AP)—A statement by Richard Frankensteen, national director of the CIO's aviation division, that he would "rather symbolize the American army than the red flag of Moscow" provoked a five-minute demonstration at the sixth national convention of the CIO United Automobile Workers today.

Frankensteen called attention to a display of tin soldiers, airplanes and tanks on the table of Local 683, Los Angeles, and a sign reading "Frankensteen Local."

A leader in a move to bar communists from holding any elected or appointed offices in the union, Frankensteen had termed the strike at the North American Aviation plant last June a "wildcat and outlaw" walkout. The strike resulted in the seizure of the plant by the U. S. army.

After the demonstration, R. J. Thomas, UAW president, asked that the display be removed. The Los Angeles delegation, which said it represented workers at the Vultee, Douglas and North American plants, complied, but not before one of the members said:

"I wish we could get soldiers off the picket line as easily as we got them off the table."

Earlier the convention was urged to oppose any attempt to train women to replace men on skilled jobs until all unemployed men have been returned to work and a manpower shortage justifies such training.

Odd Situation to Delay Trial of Brooklyn Gang

New York, Aug. 5—(AP)—Because of a situation which County Judge Franklin Taylor said was unprecedented — the unwillingness of veniremen to serve as jurors—the trial of Louis Lepke Buchalter and three co-defendants on murder charges today was recessed until September 15.

Judge Taylor directed that all veniremen return to court on that day and at the same time reserved decision on all pending applications for excuses by those asked to sit in judgment on the Brooklyn hoodlums.

"This peculiar situation is unprecedented," he said. "It is practically a runout (by the jury). The reason for it may be a reluctance to give protracted service during the hottest month of the year."

Buchalter, Emmanuel Weiss, Louis Capone and Philip (Little Farvel) Cohen, charged with the murder of Joseph Rosen, Brooklyn storekeeper in 1936, have pleaded innocent.

The state says Rosen was murdered to prevent his appearance before a Manhattan grand jury where he was scheduled to tell what he knew about the trucking racket.

Of the 250 members of a special jury panel called 26 didn't show up at all and 129 offered a variety of reasons to be excused from service.

Churchill or Beaverbrook May Visit Washington

London, Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Daily Mail in a dispatch datelined Washington said today that "there are reports in Washington official circles that in addition to the Duke of Kent 'another very high British personage' may be expected to fly to see Mr. Roosevelt."

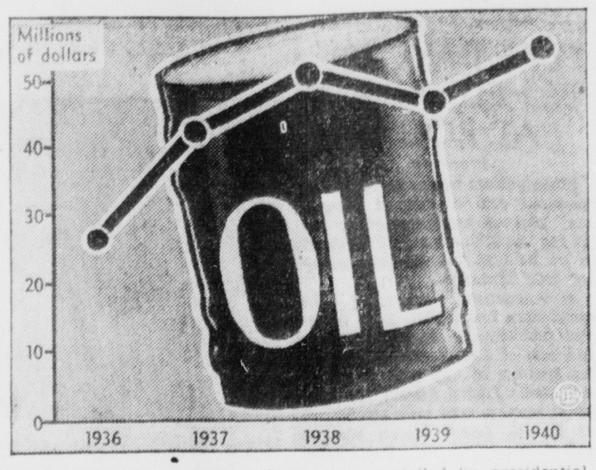

"It is stated,' 'the paper continued, "that the visitor might be Mr. Churchill or Lord Beaverbrook. The object would be to discuss closer Anglo-American collaboration."

Tension in Orient–

Thailand was the key to the explosive situation; that it might become the Poland or the Syria of the Far East.

Despite the explicit economic warnings which the United States and Great Britain have delivered to Japan in the form of asset freezing and fuel embargoes, informed sources in Manila believe Japan is determined on the plunge.

On the other hand Britain, backed by the United States, is represented in many quarters as determined to halt the Japanese advance at long last, and convinced now that a military move is the only effective means.

It is contended that during last February's crisis, when Japan was imposing her peace terms on French Indo-China and Thailand, Tokyo demanded rights to use Singora bay, on the east side of the Kra isthmus about 400 miles north of Singapore. At that time, it is said, Japanese pressure on Thailand was halted only by the quick dispatch of British reinforcements to the Malaya-Thailand border.

Must Risk Sea Struggle

Whether Britain now could stop Japan by cutting off the Kra isthmus by military measures is a matter for speculation. It is recognized, however, that Japanese warships might head simultaneously for the Netherlands East Indies which, it is believed here, would bring the final explosion.

Most observers at Manila believe that Japan is getting ready now to attack both southwest Asia and Siberia whenever this is expedient, but since any campaign against Russia probably would be protracted, Japan would be forced to risk naval hostilities in the South Pacific in order to assure a supply of raw materials, especially oil.

A Japanese army spokesman admitted today that Japanese and Russian troops had clashed near the Manchoukuo-Siberia frontier, while authoritative quarters in London reported that Japan had "substantially" reinforced her Manchoukuo garrison of a quarter million men.

Dispatches from Shanghai said the Yellow Sea port of Dairen, point of entry to Manchoukuo, was swarming with Japanese troops, horses and artillery, and that large quantities of munitions and other supplies were constantly moving through the streets.

Strengthen Garrisons

Foreigners reaching Shanghai said they took it for granted the Japanese forces and equipment were to be moved into Manchoukuo to reinforce garrisons along the Siberian frontier.

With Washington-Tokyo relations tense, all Japanese ships had left U. S. Pacific coast ports today and reports from the Far East indicated that no more vessels flying the flag of the Rising Sun would be seen in American ports for some time.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's government announced a doubling of present war-risk rates in marine insurance, effective Aug. 8, because of increasing dangers to shipping.

In Washington, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said yesterday that immediate consideration would be given to the problem of removal of Americans from the Orient. More than 600 United States citizens were stranded in Japan alone when the Tokyo government suddenly cancelled the departure of Japanese vessels for the United States.

Lieut. Col. Kunio Akiyama, official spokesman for the Japanese forces in China, depreacted the clash between Japanese and Russian troops, asserting that neither government had protested the incident and that there had been frequent unimportant skirmishes along the frontier in recent years. Both sides, he said, had minimized them by tacit agreement.

Akiyama said the brush occurred about two weeks ago near Manchuli, just inside western Manchoukuo, when Soviet troops crossed the frontier and exchanged shots with the Japanese. One Japanese was wounded, he said, while Soviet casualties were unknown.

Almost 13,000 long tons of crude rubber were stored in February by manufacturers attempting to keep the United States well stocked in case of shortage.

Milk Prices Rise As Production Costs Increase

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—Rising production costs and the necessity of maintaining a premium for fluid milk warrant an increase in minimum prices for class 1 and class 2 milk in the Chicago area, A witness asserted today at a U. S. department of agriculture hearing.

The witness was M. M. Wallrich attorney for the central grade a cooperative of Fond Du Lac, Wis., and representing 4,000 shippers in the Chicago milk shed.

Wallrich urged adoption of a formula under which producers would be paid a blended price of $2.28 per hundredweight for July deliveries, compared with an estimate of $2.10 under the existing federal marketing order. The formula was similar to one presented yesterday by the pure miilk association which would have fixed a $2.50 July price.

Rising Feed Prices

The witness said that dairy farmers were faced with rising feed and machinery prices and higher labor costs. In addiition, he said there was a possibility of a collapse in evaporated milk prices with a serious effect on fluid milk producers.

The witness contended that fluid milk producers should continue to be paid a premium because of the rigid standards imposed on grade A milk production. At the present time, he said, the demands for milk used by condenseries and cheese factories have narrowed the fluid milk premium to a negligible figure.

Twelve producers cooperatives in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana and Michigan have petitioned for increases. Organized Chicago milk dealers have announced that they would oppose the petition.

Public Opinion Polls Not Reliable Says Chicago Professor

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Public opinion polls cannot be accepted at face value, Harold F. Gosnell, University of Chicago political science professor, said today.

He cited as limitations of the validity of polls failure to represent fully the opinions of low income groups, a lack of clarity in poll questions and insufficiency of election returns as a check on accuracy in polls.

Gosnell spoke before experts on newspapers, motion pictures and radio attending the sixth annual institute of the university's graduate school, this year devoted to problems of communications systems and propaganda.

Asserting that interviewers should be drawn from the class to which they belong, Gosnell said "it is obviously impossible to carry this practice very far, but the principal income, race, nationality, territorial and labor union groups should be interviewed by group members."

He blamed failure to do this for many inaccuracies in the results of polls on the 1940 presidential election.

Says Daylight Saving Measure Is Preparation for Power Curtailments

Washington, Aug. 5—(AP)—Leland Olds, Federal Power Commission chairman, said today that legislation to authorize President Roosevelt to establish daylight saving time for defense was designed not only to conserve power but to help prepare the people for a wide range of power curtailments.

Olds told the house interstate commerce committee that if threatened power shortages continued, private industry in certain cases might be asked to reduce consumption one-third and that air-conditioning and street and sign lighting might have to be reduced sharply.

"Daylight savings time offers one form of emergency curtailment of powers," he told the committee. "We have to have the power of curtailment to fall back on to take up the slack. If we don't have that, then when an emergency comes along we will have no cushion to fall back upon."

IDRC To Purchase Land for Farmers Displaced by Gov't.

Gets Loan from FSA to Finance Deals in "Little Egypt"

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—The Illinois Defense Relocation Corporation, faced with the task of providing farms for rural families displaced from defense areas, announced today that it had agreed to purchase 12,100 acres of the 26,000 acres of land under option in Brown, Pike, Union, Alexander and Pulaski counties.

Action is pending on the remainder of the acreage.

George E. Reuss, vice president of the corporation and rural rehabilitation director for the Farm Security Administration in Illinois, reported that land which is accepted and purchased will be divided into "family type" farms, each equipped with its own set of buildings.

The land accepted or under option includes 7,300 acres in the Brown-Pike county relocation area and 18,000 in the Union-Alexander-Pulaski county area, Reuss said.

Gets $1,499,000 Loan

The Illinois Defense Relocation Corporation has been loaned $1,499,000 by the Farm Security Administration for the purpose of buying and developing relocation areas.

Reuss estimated that nearly 310 Illinois farmers have been displaced from land taken for defense projects, such as army cantonments and munitions plants. Many of the operators have succeeded in getting farms elsewhere, but they have set in motion a chain of displacements which will make more acute an already serious shortage of farms.

One of the chief reasons for the shortage of available farms, Reuss said, has been the trend toward larger and larger units, made possible by mechanization.

Where farmers are unable to move to farms in the relocation areas, the FSA will provide help in the form of loans, Reuss said. Loans will be available for operating expenses. In cases of dire need, the FSA will furnish grants to pay for food, clothing and shelter until the farmer gets his feet on the ground.

conditions and national defense activities.

Representatives of the 19 unions arranged conferences to determine their next steps. Two possible courses were before them. They could call for a strike vote by the 1,150,000 unionists. Or they could carry the dispute to the National Railway Mediation Board.

Negotiations had been in progress since July 24. The unions turned down the railroads' suggestions for changes in working rules. This phase of the controversy then was laid before the mediation board.

U. S. Pledges Aid

The United States, meanwhile, cast the weight of "all economic assistance practicable" in support of Russia's life-and-death struggle against the Nazis.

The assistance pledged by the United States would be in military supplies and implements of defense on a cash rather than a lend-lease basis. Russia has the money to pay.

Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky was informed last night at Washington that the United States also was exploring the possibility of using American ships to transport some of the supplies.

Such supplies would go by way of the Siberian port of Vladivostok. Japan, however, has hinted broadly she might not look with favor on any war supply shipping to that port.

Five City Judges In State Get Salary Cuts

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Five city judges in Illinois will receive salary reductions under a ruling made public today by Attorney General George F. Barrett.

The attorney general said that because of population losses recorded by the 1940 census the city judges in the affected communities would come under different salary brackets.

Records showed that the five judges whose state salaries would be affected are:

Harry J. Flanders, Eldorado, whose $1,800 salary will be discontinued; Archie G. Kennedy of DeKalb and John J. Wallace of Calumet City, whose $2,500 salaries will be reduced to $2,250; Paul A. Jones, Benton, cut from $2,250 to $1,800; and Wesley Lueders, Granite City, cut from $4,050 to $2,700.

Delaware's population increased from 238,380 in 1930 to 264,603 in the 1940 census.

United States Aid Pledged to Soviet in Note Exchange

Washington, Aug. 5—(AP)—The United States backed Russia against nazi Germany today with a formal pledge of "all economic assistance practicable"—an undertaking that may bring fresh complications in relations with Japan.

The assistance would be in military supplies and implements of defense, even though the Japanese-controlled press in recent weeks has been printing veiled warnings against the routine of such shipments across the Pacific to the Russian Siberian port of Vladivostok.

Indications that such a route would be used were seen in the state department's announcement that "favorable consideration" was being given Russian requests for the extension of available American shipping facilities to expedite the shipments.

Notes Exchanged

The formal undertaking to supply economic aid was set forth last night in an exchange of diplomatic notes, connected with the renewal of the annual Russo-American trade agreement.

In its note the United States disclosed for the first time it already was implementing earlier informal promises of assistance by:

1—Giving urgent soviet orders "priority assistance . . . upon the principles applicable to the orders of countries struggling against aggression";

2—Granting unlimited licenses for the export of a wide variety of supplies needed "for the strengthening of the defense" of Russia; and

3—Exploring the possibility of using American ships to transport some of the supplies.

Officials emphasized that there was no question of lease-lend aid, because Russia was able to pay for its purchases here.

Taft Proposal–

of all that is going on with increasing fury in constantly widening areas."

House Votes Deferment

The house agreed, meanwhile, to compromise legislation to defer from military training any selectees who were 28 years or older July 1, or who become 28 years old or older by any subsequent July 1 without having been inducted.

All men now in training who are 28 or older would be released as soon as possible and transferred to a reserve component of the army.

The compromise must yet be approved by the senate. It contained no reference to labor or industry, though the original senate proposal provided for seizure of plants where stoppages interrupted defense production.

The senate's overwhelming rejection of the Taft proposal apparently paved the way for a vote later in the day on final passage.

Senator Thomas (D-Utah) called up the committee-sponsored legislation which would extend the service of selectees, National Guardsmen, reserves and enlisted men for a maximum of 18 months.

However, Senator Burton (R-Ohio) moved to cut the maximum extension to 12 months.

Speaker Rayburn told his press conference he had changed his mind and now favored legislation to keep drafted men in service for more than one year.

He said that "on account of world conditions" it would be unfortunate to have these selectees discharged upon completion of 12 months of service.

Although he said much of the difficulty was due to the scattered nature of the business, Henderson testified that "with great reluctance' 'he had been forced to turn over to the justice department evidence of collusion on the part of scrap steel dealers. He said it was the first instance of his office having to refer any case to the attorney general.

Clubs

Dixon Lions Club—A. V. Lund, business manager of The Dixon Evening Telegraph, addressed members of the Lions club at their weekly luncheon meeting today at the Hotel Dixon. His subject was "The Psychology of Advertising."

The speaker pointed out that, according to surveys, the average American, from the time he reaches 16 years of age until the end of his life, reads practically nothing with any degree of regularity except daily newspapers. "Proper application of psychology in any written matter contained in a newspaper increases the results materially," he continued.

Reactions of everyone, he stated, are governed by five basic instincts of human nature, which are: Marriage and love, children, desire for friendship, self-improvement and money. The newspaperman concluded his talk by conducting a survey among the Lions as to the most effective titles (or manuscripts, comparing their opinions with actual statistics compiled in recent research.

Committee reports were heard on several projects, including the beauty contest which the club will sponsor during the Louella Parsons Day celebration next month, and the annual District 1-D golf tournament, to be held later in the month at the Dixon Country club.

Livestock Prices 17 to 18 Per Cent Higher Than in '40

Production Is at Full Emergency Rate Late Survey Indicates

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Domestic livestock, American agriculture's richest sources of income, are producing at full emergency rates to meet wartime demand and are yielding farmers prices 17 to 78 per cent greater than a year ago, market statistics showed today.

Not only are milk cows and hens breaking all records for output, but prices farmers receive for their produce, once classed as a source for the farm wife's pin money, have spiraled upward. Furthermore, the value of all livestock on farms has risen sharply.

Prices of all principal livestock and livestock products are now above parity and well above the minimums the government sought to maintain when it began its lend-lease and domestic relief buying program in April. In fact, at mid-July butterfat, chickens, beef cattle, veal calves, lambs and wool were above 110 per cent of parity, the minimum ceiling provided under price control legislation now pending.

1909-1914 Base Period

(Administration economists define parity as a price level which would give farm products a purchasing power in terms of non-farm products and services equivalent to that of a base period, set at 1909-1914.)

This steep rise in output and prices is expected to contribute much more than half of agriculture's 1941 income, which some market experts believe may top that of 1929. The rise reflects farmers' early response to government pleas for more hogs, dairy products, chickens and eggs, after passage of the lend-lease bill. Huge government purchases of livestock products, totaling almost 500,000,000 pounds of pork, lard, milk products and eggs since the beginning of the program, have helped to raise prices, thus directly spurring production. Rising domestic consumer purchasing power also has been a potent factor.

In addition to increased price yields from livestock products, livestock have been enhanced handsomely in value. Stock yards experts estimated the market value of the nation's population of hogs, around 53,000,000 head at the start of the year, has been increased more than half a billion dollars since January 1.

FOOD PRICES CLIMB

Washington, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Food prices are still climbing.

A statistical check by the bureau of labor on retail prices in 18 cities for the last half of July showed today that meats, canned vegetables and navy beans increased considerably.

Pork chops went up about 5 per cent between July 14 and July 29; chuck roast about 3 per cent and round steak 3 per cent. In cash, it represented a rise of 2.3 cents a pound.

Oranges showed a larger than seasonal rise and canned pink salmon was up about 2 per cent.

Butter, however, went down about 3 per cent in all cities surveyed, although the usual seasonal trend at this time of year is upward.

Cleveland topped the 18 cities with a 3.6 per cent increase and Boston was next with a boost of 3.1 per cent.

University Retirement System Is Organized

Chicago, Aug. 5.—(AP)—Permanent offices of the board of trustees of the University Retirement System of Illinois—a five-man organization established by the last general assembly—will be situated in Urbana.

The board picked that site yesterday, elected O. M. Karraker, Springfield, president, and adopted an operating budget for the current year of $11,850.

Elected secretary and comptroller, respectively, were two Urbana men — H. E. Cunningham and Lloyd Morey.

The pension fund will be raised by 3½ per cent salary contributions from staff members of the University of Illinois, the five state teachers colleges and the state surveys for natural history water and geology.

The state will contribute additional funds to enable all participants to retire at the age of 68.

Two Officials of Draft Board Sent to Prison Monday

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—Two officials of a local selective service board were sentenced to prison terms Monday on charges of conspiracy and bribery to defer a draftee. It was the first Chicago case of its kind since the selective service act became effective.

Attorney Joseph W. Nosek, chairman of board 110, was sentenced to three years on a charge of accepting $35 from Walter Kukovec, 26, a registrant. Dr. J. P. Gardzielewski, examining physician for the board, was sentenced to two years for conspiracy in the case. Both were convicted by a jury.

Federal Judge William H. Campbell said in passing sentence:

"This is not just a small case of bribery. It is a particularly heinous case, coming at a time when the whole world is afire. If this case were held lightly it might destroy the morale of draftees already inducted. If the men already in the army were to get the idea that they had been inducted not by a democratic process x x x the defenses of the United States would suffer severely."

Kukovec testified that he went to Nosek on the recommendation of Dr. Gardzielewski who said that Nosek "might fix" a deferment for him. After giving Nosek $10, Kukovec said, he informed Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, who advised him to keep a later appointment with Nosek. Agents said they subsequently arrested Nosek with $25 in marked bills, given to him by Kukovec.

Centralia, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—Illinois is known for its corn but it also will be known for its peaches if the goal of Egypt's fruit growers is achieved during the next few weeks.

On next Monday they will begin harvesting Alberta peaches—the finest product of southern Illinois orchards—and the 1941 crop will be the largest and of the best quality since 1931.

Faced with the problem of marketing approximately 3,000,000 bushels of the fruit, the producers have sought and obtained pledges of co-operation from many outside agencies.

For instance, big chain groceries have promised to feature peaches in their advertisements and displays. Drug chains propose to specialize in peach sundaes. Peach ice cream will be distributed by ice cream manufacturers. Restaurant associations and hotel associations have offered their assistance.

Advertising Campaign

If the orchard men have their way, fresh peaches also will be served to service men in the state's army and aviation bases and the navy's Great Lakes raining station.

An advertising campaign is being used to persuade housewives to can peaches this summer.

Harry W. Day, manager of the Fruit Growers Exchange at Carbondale, said careful attention to orchards by growers during the past year, coupled with excellent growing conditions during the early part of the season had made this year's peach crop unusually good in quality. The peaches have not been damaged by the dry spell but rain before the harvest begins would put more size on the fruit, he said.

Labor Federation Urges Caution in Priorities Order

Chicago, Aug. 5—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, urged today that the government use the utmost precaution in the application of priorities as a safeguard against excessive labor displacement in industry.

He told the federation's executive council that the Office of Production Management is "duty bound to investigate what effects are likely when priorities are issued."

He asserted that the unemployment problem caused by priorities orders was becoming increasingly serious, adding that the federation had organized a committee to find new jobs for workers affected.

Discussing the government order terminating the processing of raw silk, Green declared that "it would have been wiser had the OPM first determined whether the plant facilities could have been continued in use, fabricating some substitute for silk.

"If no substitute was found, the OPM should have attempted to convert the factories to national defense purposes by subleasing defense contracts to these plants."

The executive council, accusing Edwin S. Smith of "bias, unfairness and prejudice," urged that he be dropped from membership on the National Labor Relations Board.

Smith has long been the target of A. F. L. criticism that he favored the rival CIO. His term expires Aug. 27.

Commission New Police Tomorrow

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP)—One hundred rookie state police officers who have attended a three-weeks school of instruction at the state fairgrounds will receive their commissions tomorrow in a ceremony at which Acting Governor Hugh W. Cross will speak.

T. P. Sullivan, state director of safety, will present the commissions to the new officers in a graduation ceremony attended by state officials and members of the officers' families at the fairgrounds. The officers wrote final examinations yesterday.

The induction of the patrolmen will bring the state police force to approximately full strength—350 officers and men—for the first time in over six months. Officials said most of the new officers would be assigned first to policing of the state fairgrounds during the 89th annual fair opening Saturday, Aug. 9.

National Treasurer of Kappa Delta Dies

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Ralph P. Cope, Pullman, Wash., national treasurer of the Kappa Delta sorority, died in a hospital yesterday. She became ill and stopped off here several weeks ago while en route home from the sorority's convention in the east.

The population of New York City increased from 6,930,446 in 1930 to 7,380,259 in 1940.

WATERLOO TRIMS THREE-EYE LEADERS WITH AID OF ERRORS

(By The Associated Press)

Waterloo, seventh place club, gave league-leading Evansville a walloping last night, but it wasn't because of the Iowans' hitting.

The victors got only five hits to Evansville's six, but won, 9 to 1, aided by four errors. Dahlstrom hit a two-run homer in the seventh.

Cedar Rapids swamped Decatur under a 17 to 4 score, the Commies averting a shutout with a useless four-run rally in the ninth. The loss dropped Decatur into a second place tie with Springfield, whose game with Madison was rained out. Cedar Rapids now is only a half game behind the two teams.

Clinton and Moline split a doubleheader. Clinton won the seven-inning opener, 9 to 3, but Moline took the nightcap, 7 to 6, after rushing across six runs in the first inning.

It was announced yesterday that arrangements had been completed whereby the financially-pressed Moline club, current league cellar dwellers, would be able to finish the present season.

Despite increased home attendance, the club has been hard pressed since June 1 to meet payrolls.

Reports have been current that the club would finish the season as a road team and officials said yesterday it was possible that a series with Evansville later this month might be transferred to the Indiana city where larger crowds are anticipated.

Hearing on Appeals of Eight Dismissed Strikers Postponed

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 5—(AP) The state civil service commission postponed Monday the scheduled hearings on dismissals of eight Jacksonville state hospital employes involved in a recent strike.

The office of Attorney George F. Barrett asked more time to prepare evidence. No date for the postponed hearings was set. At the time of their removal, Welfare Director Rodney H. Brandon said the eight employes joined a sympathy strike after the dismissal of four non-civil service workers, and refused to return to their jobs although warned to do so.

Employes appealing to the state commission for reinstatement were John W. Hagarty, Howard Rhodes, August J Keating, Russell D Sargent, Charles Walihan and Bryce Wall, all of Jacksonville, Louis Sievers, Staunton, and William Fanning, Woodson.

Probe of "Shakedown" Rumors Under Way in Missouri Officialdom

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 5—(AP)—Gov. Forrest C. Donnell Monday postponed indefinitely a conference with Cole county authorities called to consider a state-wide investigation of legislative shakedown rumors.

The press of considering legislation passed by the recent general assembly—all of which must be acted upon by the governor the fore part of this month—was given as the reason for putting off the second conference between Donnell, Attorney General Roy McKittrick, Cole County Prosecutor Carl F. Wymore and Circuit Judge Sam Blair.

Donnnell and McKittrick first conferred with Cole county officials nearly two weeks ago. After that conference they issued a call for "information from any source" about the recurring charges of legislative vote buying, shakedown attempts and slush-funds.
